

Postpone Flights of UN Forces to Egypt UN Clears Way for Debate on Hungary

Delegate Is Not to Talk On Matter Nation's Plight Is Bad as Ever

United Nations, N. Y., Nov. 13 (P)—Despite Soviet objections, the UN's powerful steering committee cleared the way today for priority debate on the Hungarian situation in the regular session of the General Assembly.

The 15-nation committee voted 11 to 2 to place the Hungarian problem on the agenda of the Assembly so it can follow up the action taken in the recent emergency assembly. Only the Soviet Union and Czechoslovakia voted against the debate. Egypt abstained.

Middle East on Agenda
The steering committee recommended unanimously that the Middle East problem be placed on the 79-nation Assembly's agenda.

The Assembly itself was expected to act quickly to approve the committee's recommendations.

The decision on the Hungarian issue came after Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vassily V. Kuznetsov had warned that continued UN debate "will complicate efforts to re-establish peace" in Hungary.

The committee quickly rejected a Soviet move to have the Hungarian delegate invited to take part in the procedural discussion.

Very Urgent
U. S. delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. declared that the situation in Hungary is "of utmost urgency—all the more so since the present Hungarian authorities have now announced their rejection of almost all the recommendations of the emergency session."

Lodge referred to a message received last night from the puppet Hungarian government refusing to permit UN observers to enter Hungary in accordance with a resolution adopted by the emergency assembly.

"Meanwhile," Lodge said, "the repression continues and the situation is as heartbreaking as ever. We must search for every appropriate means to assist them and resist this dark and bloody and sinister influence there."

Gruenther Warns Reds Says Attack Would Mean Destruction

Paris, Nov. 13 (P)—Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, the outgoing NATO commander, today warned the Soviet Union that any attack on the west would be met with instant retaliation and that Russia would be destroyed.

Answering what he called "threats and blackmail," Gruenther told a farewell news conference that rockets could not destroy the Atlantic alliance's ability to retaliate.

Although he did not mention Soviet Premier Bulganin by name, he was clearly referring to the Russian's implied warning to France and Britain a week ago that more powerful nations could attack them with "rocket techniques" unless they ended their attack on Egypt.

Gruenther said: "No nation is going to press that (rocket) button if it means suicide and it does mean just that."

"Retaliation will take place as day follows night, and the Soviet Union will be destroyed," Gruenther, who has commanded the NATO forces in Europe since shortly after President Eisenhower took office, turns over his post Nov. 20 to U. S. Gen. Lauris Norstad. He is to retire from the Army Dec. 31 and become president of the American Red Cross the following day.

The allied supreme commander said air defense developments during the next five years could change the fear of retaliation that at present prevents any nation from launching rocket warfare.

"But today the offense still has a tremendous advantage over the defense and we have that offensive capability," he said. Gruenther said the crises in Hungary and the Middle East have not yet called for any change in NATO's plans.

He said his headquarters always has placed a big question mark on the reliability of the Soviet satellite armies in event of war.

He also indicated some doubts about the existence of Soviet rockets. Questioned about reports that Soviet planes and weapons had been reaching the Middle East, Gruenther conceded there had been some movement of equipment. But he added:

"There has not been any movement of Soviet Air Force units, so far as we are able to tell, beyond units sent under the Soviet aid program to Egypt. If there have been flights over Turkey, (a NATO member), they have not at this time been extensive."

Fire Chief Harry Lowe reported on fires responded to. They were at the Modica property, a woods area; brush fire on the Flatbush road; a call to the Brigham brickyard and an emergency call to the Lake road.

An appropriation was asked by Chief Lowe for a tract of land to be cleared for fire training purposes. A pit will be built where fire will be ignited and the firemen will have instruction how to approach and eliminate fire. Two plans were submitted by Fire Chief Lowe pertaining to fire training. The company adopted plan two which will be published to each member.

Ulster Vols Prepare For County Convention

At the regular semi-monthly meeting of Ulster Hose No. 5, Town of Ulster, Monday evening Edward Fischang was appointed chairman of the committee for the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Convention which will be held in the town of Ulster next July.

Plans for the convention will be started in the near future to prepare the program of events, parade, banquet and other matters pertaining to the convention and entertainment of the visitors.

The second annual Aunt Jemima pancake supper was discussed and plans were made for the pancake supper which will be held Saturday, Nov. 17. Members of the Ladies Auxiliary will have members present for serving.

Ike Victory Lifts Hopes For Two-Party Louisiana

Baton Rouge, La., Nov. 13 (P)—President Eisenhower's victory in Louisiana, the first for a Republican in 80 years, may signal an end to this Deep South state's die-hard devotion to the Democratic party.

Republicans, however, are not much closer to organizing state politics into a two-party battleground because the vote was a show of independence rather than a switch in party preference.

That's the meaning of last Tuesday's vote, according to the state's newspapers and veteran political observers.

In 1952, Democrat Adlai Stevenson held Louisiana by 38,000 votes, despite then Gov. Robert Kennon's active opposition.

This year, the state went to Eisenhower by more than 75,000 votes, in a statewide show of strength, although on the surface the Democratic party was united.

A number of reasons are possible for the shocking turnaround:

1. A poorly financed Democratic campaign, hampered by squabbling between backers of Gov. Earl Long and the anti-Long factions.

2. A heavy anti-Long vote, possibly reaction to Long's high-pressure tactics in the 1956 legislature that extended into the

Just Few Thousand Needed

Chest Is Nearing Its $108,000 Goal

The Kingston Area Community Chest's goal of $108,000 will be reached, it was predicted in a statement issued today by Paul F. Steinkuller, general campaign chairman.

Pointing out that the campaign is presently "only a few thousand dollars" away from the goal, Mr. Steinkuller appealed to those not contacted to telephone the Community Chest office and leave their names and addresses so that a worker may call on them.

Calls for Cards
In a separate statement, Mr. Steinkuller has also called upon all campaign workers holding unreported cards to turn them in to the Chest office at once. In thanking the workers for their efforts, Mr. Steinkuller noted that already nine out of every 10 families in the area have given, "practically all industrial firms" have given, and 95 per cent of all businesses have given.

Expresses Thanks
Mr. Steinkuller's statement follows: "Many thanks to the people of the Kingston area. Your response to the Kingston Area Community Chest's third annual campaign has made it the most successful fund drive in the local Chest's history."

The thousands of individuals and firms that have contributed—the more than 500 men and women who gave generously of their time to participate in the drive as volunteers—all have earned the sincere gratitude of all of us. The directors and staffs of each of the eight Community Chest agencies join me in saying. Thanks, for a job well done.

Only Few Thousand Away
Early in the campaign, reference was made to "Kingston's $108,000 Challenge." We are now only a few thousand dollars away from that goal.

We can meet that challenge. I am confident we will. I'd like to review briefly how that $108,000 goal was arrived at.

During the summer, each agency submitted to the Chest an estimated budget of operating expenses for the year 1957. These estimates, with a modest amount to cover campaign expenses and contingencies, totaled over $126,000.

Estimates Studied
The estimates were carefully studied by the Community Chest budget committee—a group of local accountants and other professional and business people serving without pay. It was clear that each agency could use every dollar of the amount it asked for.

But this committee, taking into consideration the record of past drives and desirous of setting (Continued on Page 2, Col. 7)

Consolidation Meeting Is Scheduled Wednesday at 8

Roy Feddes, general chairman, will preside and two members of every school district in the greater Kingston area are urged to attend. Others interested in consolidation are also invited, including trustees of various school districts which would be affected by the proposed consolidation.

Future planning and operations of the committee "to incorporate consolidation in the Kingston area as soon as possible" will be discussed.

It was announced today that another district-wide meeting would be held in the Ontario school auditorium later to further discuss the proposals before the bond issue is voted. At that

More Data Is Needed Another Meeting Planned on Ontario

Between 175 and 200 residents of the Ontario Central School District attended the district-wide meeting at the school last evening to hear a summary report based on area public information meetings which have been held throughout the district.

Since no definite information is presently available as to sites, costs of such sites and other pertinent information which should be known prior to a bond issue vote, another meeting has been planned for a later date.

A further study will be made as to cost of a site near Bears-ville and it was announced last evening that apparently the City of New York was speeding up its action on the Olive site.

Recently it appeared some time would elapse before the City of New York would be in a position to name figures on the Olive site and a proposal was made that the district proceed with the bond issue for the other portion of the expansion program. However, with announcement that the city may take action this week, the board of education now proposed to await action and if possible include the Olive proposal in the single bond issue.

Admission Of Troops Disputed Observers Move Into Canal Zone

London, Nov. 13 (P)—A 12-man team of UN observers moved into the Suez Canal zone No-Man's Land today to watch over the cease-fire between French-British and Egyptian forces.

But the departure of the first UN police units for Egypt was postponed. UN spokesmen said the reason was "flight times and schedules." At the same time, however, a major dispute over Egypt's terms for admission of the police force appeared to be developing.

Announced Yesterday
Egypt consented to receive the UN observers several days ago. Her agreement to the police force was announced only yesterday by UN Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld.

The 12-man observer team, including Norwegians, Swedes, Danes and Australians, landed at Port Said in the British-French occupied sector of the Canal zone from a landing ship which had picked them up at Haifa. They had been part of the UN corps of truce observers in Palestine.

The postponement of the police airlift until tomorrow at least was announced by UN spokesmen at Capodichino, Italy, where the 180-man vanguard of the international army is waiting.

A spokesman for the Swiss airline, which is to transport the troops to Cairo, said the Swiss pilots wanted to make a daylight reconnaissance of Cairo's international airport before attempting landings. A UN spokesman explained also that it would have been a race today to land the first troops in Cairo before 6 p. m., when the airport (Continued on Page 10, Col. 6)

U.S. Boat Captain Is Hurt by Mexican Guns

Brownsville, Tex., Nov. 13 (P)—The Captain of the United States shrimp boat Pescador was critically wounded last night when, the boat's owner said, it was fired on by a Mexican gunboat. The skipper, Tom Wilson, was reported bleeding badly today.

The U. S. Coast Guard, admitting its information was limited, confirmed the shooting. The owner, John Santos Carinhas of Brownsville, said he talked to the boat by radio today for a second time and that the Pescador, under the armed escort of the gunboat, was forced to head for Tampico, Mexico.

It was due in that port around noon (CST). The State Department said in Washington that it was informed Wilson was "resting comfortably and his life is not in danger."

A later report by radio from the boat to Mrs. Tom Wilson said Wilson was seriously injured and was having difficulty breathing.

Carinhas said he talked to U. S. Consul George Whittinghill at Tampico. The boat owner quoted the consul as saying the Mexican Navy Ministry had been trying to contact its gunboat, the C-28 but was unable to do so.

Whittinghill told Carinhas the ministry wanted to tell the gunboat to leave the shrimp and its crew to be picked up by the U. S. Coast Guard—that it didn't want the Pescador brought to Tampico.

In case the boat is brought to Tampico, Whittinghill said he has a doctor and ambulance standing by on the docks.

Mrs. Wilson, who has two short-wave radio sets in her home, claimed that every time the Pescador sought to use the radio, the frequency was jammed by the gunboat.

The shooting was another incident stemming from conflicting fishing rights claims.

United States shrimpers claim Mexico's sovereignty extends only 3 marine miles from shore. Mexico claims 9 marine miles. A marine mile is about 1 1/2 land miles. A number of shrimp boats have been seized by Mexican gunboats, their shrimp confiscated and the owners fined.

Nation's Economy Lunges Up During July-September

Washington, Nov. 13 (P)—The nation's booming economy lunged forward during the July-September quarter, with strong advances in production, personal income and wages.

The commerce department's November "survey of current business," issued yesterday, showed that during the third quarter of 1956:

1. Total output of goods and services reached a record annual rate of nearly 414 billion dollars—12 billion more than the first of the year. It was the fourth consecutive quarter in which the gross national product topped the 400 billion dollars mark.

2. Personal income rose to an annual rate of 327 billion, up 4 billions from the second quarter. 3. Payrolls in private industry went up to an annual rate of 188 1/2 billion, a 2 billion dollar spurt from the April-June period.

4. Government wages and salaries rose to a 388 billion dollar annual rate, an increase of about 500 million.

The department said major factors in the third quarter increase in gross national product were a three billion dollar rise in personal consumption spending and a two billion dollar boost in business outlays for plant and equipment.

It also reported that fixed private investment reached an annual rate of 63 billion dollars, up 2 billion, and that government purchases hit a rate of 80 billion, a rise of 1 1/2 billion.

Dr. Sam Loses Review of Trial By High Court

Washington, Nov. 13 (AP)—Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard, Cleveland osteopath, today lost his fight for a Supreme Court review of his trial and conviction for the bludgeoning slaying of his wife, Marilyn.

Sheppard, now serving a 10-year-to-life sentence in the Ohio Penitentiary, contended he was denied a fair trial because of adverse publicity.

"This was a trial by newspapers," he said in his appeal. "The press, radio and television not only attempted to influence the judge and jury before and during trial but they did influence them. The conduct of these mediums of public information is of the kind that has been condemned by the courts of England and in the United States by judges, lawyers, bar associations, professors of law and writers on legal subjects, and by responsible newspaper editors."

"We believe this case brings squarely before the Supreme Court the widely debated question of 'fair trial and free press.'"

Sheppard was convicted of slaying his 30-year-old wife in their Bay Village, Ohio, home on July 4, 1954. He contended his wife was killed during a sex attack by an intruder. The Ohio Supreme Court upheld the conviction last May 31.

The high court in rejecting Sheppard's appeal noted that Justice Burton took no part in consideration of the case.

Justice Frankfurter issued a memorandum reiterating the statement he occasionally makes, that denial of a review "in no wise implies that this court approves the decision" of the lower courts.

Shipyards Reach Contract Terms

A new agreement was reached at a meeting Monday night between the Kingston Metal Trades Council, George E. Yerry, Jr., business agent, and Reliance Marine, Island Dock and Hiltbrant yards.

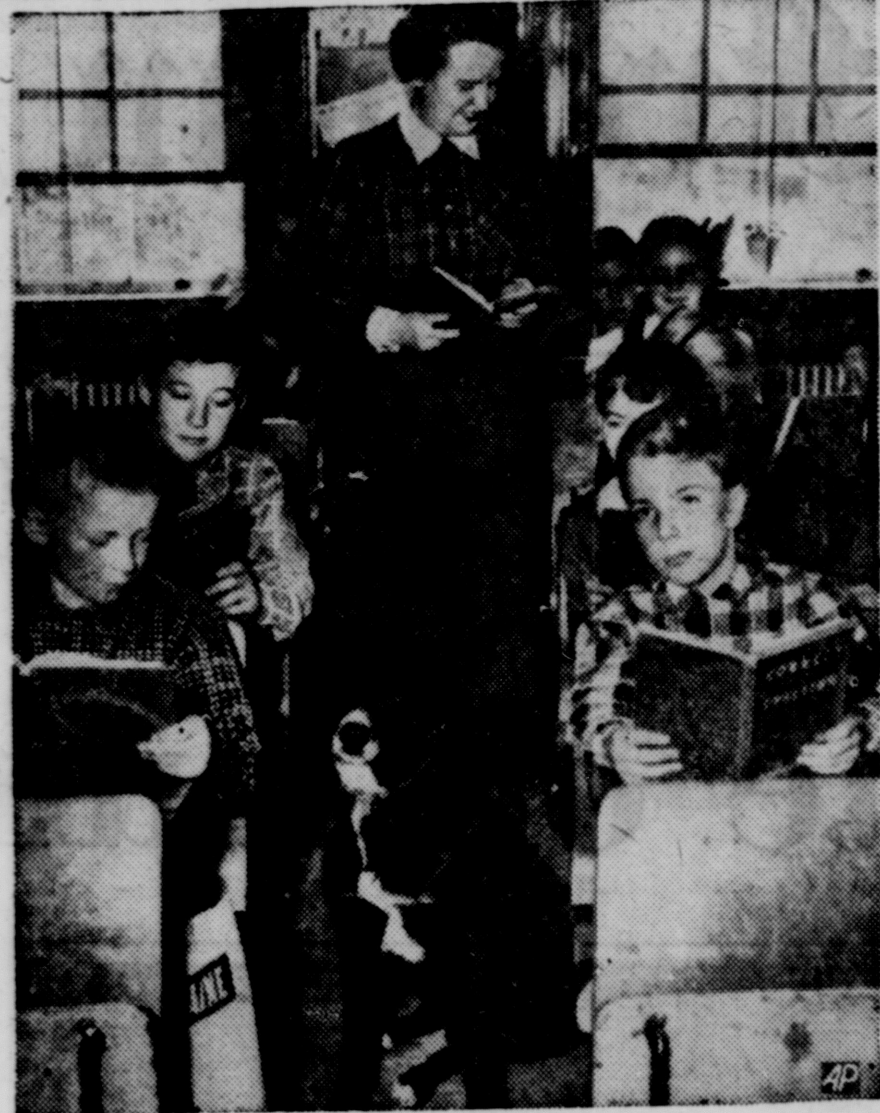

Under the new agreement there is a 10 cent an hour increase across the board retroactive to October 1, 1956; a provision for a 5 cent increase as of September 30, 1957, and another 5 cent increase effective September 29, 1958. There is also a 66 per cent increase in welfare contributions and a provision of additional limited insurance for families of workers. There is a new clause covering security for shop stewards and other employees, except certain old time employees who will be given protection on their jobs. The contract may be reopened by either party on 60 days notice for wage discussion provided certain conditions exist. It was stated employers hope to pay the back wages next week if possible.

Negotiations have been under way since the middle of September on the contract. Joseph Rodden is president of the council.

Included in the council is Local 223 of Kingston, Federal Labor Union Local 23287, Boiler-makers Local No. 720, Electricians Local No. 645, Painters Local No. 255, Machinists Local No. 1609 and Hudson Valley Council of Carpenters.

Meet After 46 Years

New York, Nov. 13 (AP)—A Queens woman and her Italian brother were reunited today for the first time in 46 years. Mrs. Dora Canino, 62, a widow, of 151-11 28th avenue, Flushing, was waiting at the pier when her brother, Filippo Gebbia, 48, a tinsmith, of Palermo, Italy, arrived here for a three-month visit. Mrs. Canino, one of eight children, came to the United States in 1910 after the death of her father. Gebbia arrived aboard the Italian liner Cristoforo Colombo.

ment in a three-elementary school program.

A number of speakers appeared presenting the present situation at the school, the crowded condition, problems facing the school staff, and there was a discussion of the increased enrollment and how it had been brought about. Present enrollment is over 1,225.

Among those who spoke were Mrs. Hazel Osborne, health nurse; Mrs. Betty Jane Barringer, cafeteria manager; Paul Runge, guidance director; Ronald Vanni, elementary principal and Principal William H. Deming of the high school.

Health conditions and problems, crowded conditions and problems confronting the cafeteria, difficulties in scheduling, room conditions for classes and inability to maintain the high standard of instruction was among the topics touched on by the speakers.

Vanni spoke on the difficulties confronting the students and teachers in the elementary wing. Among the factors discussed was undesirable room conditions, crowding and other difficulties. The regional idea would help solve a number of the problems in both elementary and high school, it was stated.

Principal Deming spoke of the problems of the high school and the general situation in the school. Figures of attendance three or four years ago were cited and present figures were given. He also spoke of the discipline problem which has arisen in class rooms and study hall due to the overcrowding. The bus problem, noon hour problem and lack of ground facilities were discussed.

There were a number of residents who spoke including remarks by Ernest Gardiner of Mt. Tremper, chairman of the Taxpayers Association who said he had propositions he desired to submit to his association for its approval. He said he had several proposals to submit on the school's situation and what could be done.

Anthony Indiviglia of Mt. Tremper read a lengthy statement in opposition to the proposed program.

Supervising Principal John Moehle spoke on the three proposed sites, one at Shandaken, the possibility of a new site in the Bearsville area and the Olive site. It was announced that another meeting would be held when definite information was available and the sites could then be fully discussed.

The board plans to make a thorough study of the Bearsville site this week and also look into the Olive situation and ascertain what the City of New York is going to do.

Booklet Issued On Conservation

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 12 — A new impetus to conservation education among the school children of New York state is provided by a colorfully illustrated booklet published today by the State Education Department.

Dr. James E. Allen Jr., commissioner of education, in announcing the publication of "Using Resources Wisely," emphasized that it represents the close cooperation of several state agencies, the federal government and private groups interested in conservation.

The 48-page booklet carries a four-color cover of an autumn scene in the Adirondacks provided by the State Commerce Department. In carrying forward this project the curriculum bureaus of the State Education Department also had the assistance of the State Conservation Department, Cornell University, the State University of New York Teachers' College at Fredonia, numerous public schools, the State Department of Public Works, the State Thruway Authority, the Conservation Foundation, which helped to finance the project, the State Museum and Science Service, other units of the State Education Department and the United States Forest Service. One newspaper, The Albany Knickerbocker News, also contributed to the joint effort.

Democrat Seen Winner

Jersey City, N. J., Nov. 13 (AP)—Incumbent Democratic Rep. Alfred Seminski is the apparent winner in the disputed 13th Congressional District race, Hudson county elections superintendent William MacPhail said today. MacPhail said Seminski apparently had nosed out Republican Norman Roth of Bayonne by 54 votes. He made the statement two hours before the county board of canvassers was to meet to determine the winner.

3. A switch of as much as 50 per cent in the Negro vote, which went about 98 per cent for Stevenson in 1952. Negro leaders termed it a "protest vote" against white supremacy tactics of southern Democrats.

4. The Suez crisis. States rights leaders say it cost them many votes. "The people were afraid to hurt Mr. Eisenhower's chances."

5. A well-organized, heavily financed Republican campaign. A top Stevenson leader said after the votes were counted: "We could have held Louisiana for Stevenson. But we'd had to put on a lot stronger campaign, spent a lot more money. We didn't have that kind of money. Even so, I thought Stevenson would carry the state by a narrow margin."

The Baton Rouge Morning Advocate said the election gave two-party hopes "another shot in the arm. But the basic problem facing the Republicans remains the same that it was in 1952."

"The Republican problem is how to convert more of those who voted Republican in the last two presidential elections into Republicans at the state politics level. . . the experience of the past four years has shown it isn't too easy," the newspaper concluded.

Search Continues

Montpelier, Vt., Nov. 13 (AP)—Police continued their search across the northeast states today for Priscilla Whitcomb, 19, daughter of Vermont U. S. Attorney Louis G. Whitcomb. The girl has been missing since last Friday and is believed in the company of Richard S. Thatcher, 19, of Evanston, Ill., a parolee from Colorado State Reformatory. Police said Thatcher was sentenced to an indefinite term in May, 1955, for passing worthless checks while absent without leave from the navy.

Rebels Ambush Buses

Algiers, Nov. 13 (AP)—Nationalist rebels ambushed two buses east of Oran last night, killing seven Europeans and kidnapping an unknown number of Moslems. The dead included six soldiers and one civilian. Troops began a widespread search for the rebel band of about 50 men. In Algiers a time bomb went off in a crowded bus, injuring 20 persons. A similar bomb blast in a railroad station injured 10 persons.

Ike to Meet Press

Washington, Nov. 13 (AP)—President Eisenhower will hold his first news conference, since his election to a second term, tomorrow (10:30 a. m. EST). His last news conference was held Oct. 11.

Kingston and Ulster county shoppers who attended in goodly numbers the "Veterans Day" sale in Kingston Monday found the "11,000 sale items" as advertised and many more. From the shopper standpoint the day was a success, it was reported by numerous participants.

Jay Melton, chairman of the special sales committee of the Uptown Business Men's Association, promoters of the sale, said reports had been received from merchants who reported the sale had been well accepted and patronized. Business from 20 per cent to one firm reporting a 70 per cent increase in business over the corresponding Monday last year, was reported, Melton said.

Roosevelt Park Residents Urged To Be at Parley

Residents of the Roosevelt Park section were urged today to attend a hearing Wednesday regarding construction of an apartment house on Wilson avenue.

The hearing is scheduled by the Kingston Zoning Board in City Court room at City Hall at 8 p. m.

Alderman William S. Keyser of the Second Ward said, "the zoning law is so ambiguous it might be well for residents of the area to attend and hear the board's interpretation personally."

ting a goal the public would readily accept as realistic, recommended certain economies and eliminated certain expenses that, while undoubtedly desirable, were not thought to be immediately essential to the welfare of the area. In all, they succeeded in cutting the requests by nearly 15 per cent.

Minimum Figure

So, as you can see, the final goal, $108,000 is truly a minimum figure that must certainly be met, and ought to be exceeded. A number of us on the campaign committee have pledged ourselves to continue our efforts until this goal is reached.

Nine out of every ten families in the area have already given to the Chest—practically all industrial firms have given—95 per cent or more of all businesses have given. This record is indeed a tribute to the diligence of the many volunteers who worked on this campaign.

But those volunteers are busy people, like you and me. It is to be expected that they were unable to contact all of those who would like to give.

If you have not been offered the opportunity to join the Kingston Area Community Chest by making your pledge, may I personally urge you to call the Community Chest office and leave your name and address. We will see that someone calls for your pledge or contribution. Your pledge can be the one that will put the Community Chest "over the top."

TWO GIRLS, A CHEVY AND A RECORD!

A meaningful achievement in automobile performance

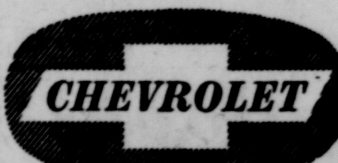

Most automobile performance records you read about these days are set on a track or closed course. The results are usually pretty difficult to relate to the kind of day-in, day-out driving most of us do. Running at safe and legal speeds, a '57 Chevrolet recently chalked up a new coast-to-coast record on the road. And the way it set this record is even more important than the record itself!

A new '57 Chevrolet recently proved it has the qualities most people look for in a car—and proved it on the roads you travel, under the same conditions you drive in every day. It broke the record for the coast-to-coast run from New York to Los Angeles (certified by NASCAR). It was a strictly stock, V8-powered Chevy. It was driven by two young ladies.

This last fact, we think, is even more important than the impressive new record set by Chevrolet. Oh sure, it's nice to know that a Chevrolet can cross the country in one uninterrupted span—and do it in less than 57 hours. It's a tribute to Chevrolet's great-hearted V8 engine and solid road-worthiness that it could travel day and night for 2,913 miles at safe and legal speeds—and better the existing record for the trip by more than three hours. But it's only when you consider that all the driving was done by 98-pound Betty Skelton and her friend Caroline Russ that the true significance of this record run becomes apparent.

When a pair of young ladies step into a car and drive it round the clock to a new transcontinental record, you know that car is easy to drive. You begin to see what we mean by smooth-cruising comfort . . . by nailed-to-the-road stability by sweet-feeling sureness of control . . . by quicksilver responsiveness.

We'd like you to get to know this new Chevy. Stop in and see how beautifully it does all the things a car should do.

New Surgery Clears Arteries Of Fat That Causes Attacks

Chicago, Nov. 12 (AP)—An historical new surgery method has been developed which scrapes clean the clogged arteries in humans which cause heart attacks, two surgeons have announced.

"Rusted" coronary arteries were bored clean in about the same manner that rusted or stopped-up water pipes are reamed out.

A thin, hollow instrument pushed through the arteries cut away plugs of fatty material that had caused the heart attacks, and threatened to cause new attacks.

The surgery was performed within the last two weeks on two men, aged 51 and 52, both victims of heart attacks like that of President Eisenhower.

In both cases the cleaning out increased the vital flow of blood to the heart muscle. The patients are expected to leave the hospital soon.

Reported by Surgeons

The new step was announced by Dr. Charles P. Bailey of Hahnemann Medical College and Hahnemann Hospital, Philadelphia, and Dr. Angelo May of Mt. Zion Hospital, San Francisco. It was reported yesterday to the American Society for Study of Arteriosclerosis (hardening of the arteries).

It was interpreted as a step toward a new era of surgical prevention of heart attacks. Top specialists are experimenting with various methods of cleaning out or replacing clogged arteries to prevent new attacks, or even some day to operate soon enough to prevent the first attack.

Too Early to Tell

Dr. Bailey said it is too early to determine how much this new method has helped the two patients, or how many heart victims might be helped this way. Heart attacks come because arteries that carry blood to the heart muscle itself become narrowed or blocked by deposits of fatty material on the inside of the blood vessels. This can close the artery, or blood clots can be formed in the narrowed artery to produce sudden heart attacks.

BUT NOT SLAVES

Even as Russian leaders talked of withdrawing troops from Hungary, Russian forces massed on the border poised to strike. There had been no more blatant disregard of world opinion since Adolf Hitler launched his blitzkrieg.

If ever a people had demonstrated their desire to be free it was the people of Hungary. They had paid for their liberty with feats of courage that will long be remembered. Snatching back that liberty was not a difficult task for the Russians. Their overpowering superiority in manpower and in the machines of war made the outcome inevitable. Soviet bombers roared through the skies, Soviet tanks smashed through the ranks of the patriots. The threat that freedom always poses for tyrants was ended—temporarily.

But Russia has done itself more damage in recent days than all the crimes of Stalin deplored by a fearful Khrushchev. The neutralist nations will have to reassess their positions. How can any nation accept the promise of the Soviets with the memory of what happened in Hungary fresh in mind?

The people of Hungary may again be held in the grip of the tyrants. They may wear chains—but they will never be slaves. Putting a man's arms and legs in manacles makes him a prisoner, but nothing makes him a slave so long as he dreams of freedom. The people of Hungary will some day rise again.

A DAY FOR GETTYSBURG

Only one piece of American literature is celebrated by a special holiday. This is the Declaration of Independence, commemorated on the Fourth of July. Lincoln's Gettysburg Address might well have a like honor. Delivered on Nov. 19, 1863, it is known by heart to more Americans than almost any other single piece of literature.

A persistent legend has it that Lincoln jotted it down on the back of an envelope as he rode to Gettysburg by train. But not thus are great masterpieces produced.

When asked to speak at the dedication of the Gettysburg battlefield, Lincoln realized that he would not be forgiven if he did nothing or did it badly. After turning it over in his mind a good deal, he began to write on Nov. 8. By the 17th he reported that he had found time to write about half. He eventually rewrote his original draft. He consulted Secretary Seward, but there is no indication that Seward made any important suggestion.

At first Lincoln was disappointed in the address and in the popular reception of it. One compliment which did much to change his viewpoint came from Edward Everett, the formal orator on the occasion. Everett wrote him, "I should be glad if I could flatter myself that I came as near to the central idea of the occasion in two hours as you did in two minutes." That was an accurate judgment of one of the greatest speeches ever uttered.

UNJUSTIFIED SECRECY

Some one once spoke of the "boundless audacity of elected persons." This quality is found just as much in the appointed variety, and citizens do well to be on their guard against it.

A House subcommittee on government operations has proposed a law in this connection which sounds highly desirable. It would bar government agencies from withholding information unless Congress had previously granted them specific authority to do so. A good many cases have turned up in which Washington bureaus refused to answer questions about their methods or transactions. The subcommittee would put a stop to this.

In some cases the public welfare demands secrecy. In many more, the only reason for refusing information is to conceal the inefficiency of the office in question. After all, public business is the business of the public, not the private property of the officeholder.

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY
MORE ABOUT MONEY

Sooner or later, the American people of this generation will rediscover that money is an honorable device to be employed for many purposes, some virtuous and some evil, but that it loses value when its integrity is not respected. The greatest enemy of money, throughout history, has been government which has often debased its value by over-issuance, which has clipped it to lessen its metallic contents and which has reduced its purchasing power by dishonest management.

Elliott V. Bell, who edits "Business Week" and used to be Superintendent of Banks in New York State, had much to say on this subject when he spoke to the American Bankers Association Convention, but whether it did the bankers any good to hear him is another matter as they are excessively regulated and over-controlled almost like the railroads which are in a bureaucratic strait jacket.

There seems to be a very widespread assumption that having turned over to Government the responsibility for maintaining the economic health of the country, Government, in turn, can simply pass the buck to the Federal Reserve System, and the Fed, in turn, can achieve the goal simply by manipulating the reserves of the banking system and in inconveniencing nobody except perhaps a few Government bond dealers. I have a feeling that so great an enterprise cannot be accomplished quite so simply.

I am questionable whether it can be done that way at all, and the proof that it cannot is that the American dollar is now worth about one-half its purchasing power and that the cost of living is inordinately high during a period of such plenty that over-production has become an established fact, dangerous to the public welfare and involving our country in an oblique foreign policy based on the assumption that the only way to maintain full employment at excessive wages is to dump between five and six billion dollars of American goods upon the rest of the world for no compensation.

Bell correctly analyzes the cause of the Depression and its cure: "Back in 1929, the discount rate got up to 6 per cent and call money went to 20 per cent but security loans kept right on going up until finally the whole business collapsed and we headed for the Great Depression. Then the Fed struggled to bring about a recovery by easy money. The discount rate went to 1 per cent and Treasury bills went to a negative yield. But it was no easy money that finally cured the unemployment of the thirties."

"It was the vast deficit spending of war," The New Deal had no answer to unemployment and was saved from disaster by war. And we have been living through a war economy from 1939 to the present day and have used money not so much as an instrument of exchange, but as a political device of power, just as we have used taxes not so much for revenue but as a means for redistribution of wealth.

What is it that we learned from the Depression? Of course, the politicians learned that if it is possible to say that a third of a nation is in poverty, a President can be elected four times; politicians also learned that in times of great troubles, it is possible to fragment a people until they vote in racial, religious and national blocs instead of as individual citizens exercising the right of choice; politicians also learned that if any special privileges are to be made available, they are to go to those segments of the population which are most numerous and where there are the most votes.

Elliott Bell learned this, which we need to think about today because it applies today: The events of the Great Depression destroyed the illusion that mere tightening or loosening of the total volume of credit was a sure-fire cure-all for economic ups and downs. The simple monetary explanation of the business cycle withered away to be replaced by more complex ideas of the interrelation of Federal spending, taxes, savings and investments, income, employment and money too. And so the new hope of preventing depressions came to rest not just on central banking techniques but on 'compensatory fiscal and monetary policy.'

When government bonds are down in any economy, the nation is in real, economic trouble. (Copyright, 1956, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

TREATMENT OF SERIOUSLY ILL SURGICAL PATIENTS

"With the increase in the number and complexity of surgical operations that are being performed, the time has come for a new look at the care of the critically ill surgical patient. This is especially true at this time since we are faced with a critical shortage of trained nurses. In the zeal for training nurses and doctors and because of the necessity for scientific hospital programs, along with emphasis on shorter hours of work, there is danger that the patient may become the forgotten man," wrote Drs. J. Beardsley and C. Capalbo, Rhode Island Hospital.

They feel that the answer to the problem lies in having all such patients in one area staffed by specially trained personnel including physician, graduate nurses, practical nurses, orderlies, and a dressing room aide. One full time surgical resident is assigned to it.

This program already is being carried out in a few hospitals such as Rhode Island and Sunnybrook Veterans' Hospital in Toronto, Canada.

The definition of adequate care must take into account the fact that the care of the seriously ill surgical patient is a specialized duty and requires nursing skills that can be developed only by continued exposure to this type of problem. Careful attention to fluid balance records, tubes used after chest and abdominal surgery, and other equally important facts of the postoperative period is well appreciated by both doctors and nurses.

Patients who have had operations of a less serious nature such as routine herniorrhaphies (repair of a hernia by operation), appendectomies, hysterectomies, etc., fare very well, providing they have received the benefits of a period of observation in a recovery room. However, patients who have been subjected to extensive operations for cancer, heart and lung surgery, or any difficult major operation need care that can be provided only on a hospital unit adequately staffed with intelligent, well-trained personnel.

In the past, two methods have been employed in an attempt to solve the problem of obtaining proper care for the seriously ill patient.

The first, a step in the right direction that should continue to be encouraged, has been to use auxiliary personnel such as practical nurses and hospital aides to do many of the jobs nurses formerly did and so save the nurses' time for "nursing."

The second is the time-honored use of a private duty nurse for those patients who need constant observation. This rules itself out automatically as a solution to the overall problem since, with the existing shortage, there are not enough such nurses to go around, even if the average patient could afford them, which he cannot.

Thus we can see that the plan of having all critically ill patients in a single area of the hospital staffed by specially trained nurses: (1) Gives expert care for those who need it most; (2) Lightens the pressure in all other areas, lessening the need for graduate nurses there and allowing more auxiliary help; and (3) Lightens the demand for private nursing care.

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA)—The big riddle of the 1956 elections is why a Democratic Senate and House were elected along with a Republican President who landslided to victory.

This phenomenon violates all rules of political coalition riding. If Ike was so good, why didn't he sweep in a Republican Congress?

Or if Adlai was so bad, why didn't he drag Democratic congressional candidates down to defeat, too?

You can get any number of expert opinions on this subject. Republican National Committee headquarters produces a tabulation which shows simply that the Republican organization did all right east of the Mississippi, but failed miserably west of the Mississippi.

IN ELECTIONS to the House of Representatives, the GOP gained at least 10 Eastern seats and lost only one—the September election in Maine.

Republican gains were one seat each in Connecticut, Delaware, Pennsylvania, Illinois, New York. They won two seats in New Jersey and West Virginia. They may win one or two more in close races in New York and New Jersey, on the final count.

West of Mississippi, the Republicans lost eight seats in Iowa, Kansas, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, Oregon and South Dakota. On the final count they may lose additional seats in Iowa and Oregon.

The same situation is true in the Senate races. The Republicans had net gains of two seats east of the Mississippi but lost two west of the Mississippi.

The gains were one in New York and West Virginia and two in Kentucky, but the GOP lost two Senate seats in Ohio and Pennsylvania.

West of the Mississippi the Republicans lost Senatorial seats in Idaho and Colorado.

SO MUCH FOR the facts of the situation. The interpretation is that in the big industrial city states, the GOP did all right. But in the rural and farm states, drought and the decline of farm prices contributed to defeating Republican candidates.

The good congressional candidates are said to have survived this handicap in the western states. But if the candidates were at all weak, or the party organization was weak, Eisenhower's popularity could not help.

President Eisenhower's heavy inroads in the traditionally Democratic south are attributed to two principal factors.

One is that Stevenson was a flop in the south. He was too much of an Ivy League intellectual.

On top of this, the threats of war in Europe and the Mid East convinced many they didn't want Stevenson for commander-in-chief.

Democratic analyses of what happened run more to the emotional type. The principal complaint is that the Republicans spent so much more money to elect Eisenhower that they practically bought the election at auction.

Democrats say they would have needed five million dollars more for advertising, publicity and air time to put Stevenson across.

ON THE CONGRESSIONAL front, there is some bitterness in Democratic ranks that Gov. Harriman of New York and Gov. Chandler of Kentucky did not exert themselves more to save three Senate seats and the national ticket.

But in general, the Democrats think their congressional candidates were able to run ahead of the national ticket because senators and representatives had been in closer contact with the people of their states during the last four years.

From both party headquarters come admissions that voters don't follow party labels the way they used to. Nearly everyone is an expert at ticket-splitting.

From the Democratic viewpoint, this explains why many voted for Ike but would not vote for Republican congressmen because they felt the GOP conservatives would not support his program.

Finally, the war crises of the last two weeks in the campaign gave many people a feeling of wanting to let things alone. This contributed to keeping both Eisenhower and the present Democratic majorities in both houses of Congress.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Lakeland, Fla., Nov. 12—The ribbon of the Congressional Medal of Honor has white stars on a blue strip. The button worn on civvies is a pale blue rosette with white flecks. This honor actually makes Americans gasp in awe.

There are about 200 medal of honor men here for the first convention of their national society, which was organized only eight years ago with eight members. This roster now has grown to 190 out of a total of about 338 owners of the medal who are believed to be living.

They never had a society or any unity before 1948 and some of the men may be blasé about their own heroic celebrity among other Americans. Some of those who are not accounted for may have died in obscurity.

Jimmy Walsh, of New York, whose limp is a souvenir of Vera Cruz in 1914, is in a hospital in New York. His friend, Dick O'Neill, who got his medal with the 165th New York on the Oureq river in France in 1918, reports that Jimmy is "not at all well."

Claus Clausen, of Massapequa Park, L. I., was a coxswain aboard an old bucket called the Merrimack, which Junior Lieut. Richmond Pearson Hobson, U.S.N., ran aground in the channel at Santiago, Cuba, in 1898.

He is the only man living of eight navy volunteers for a desperate effort to bottle up the Spanish fleet. They did not succeed because a Spanish tug got under the Merrimack's stern and shot her rudder off.

The American fleet lay outside and popped the Spaniards as they came out, the battleship Colon and the cruisers Maria Theresa, Viscaya and Oquinto.

Lieut. Hobson became a reigning toast of the country after the war and was kissed without mercy by many babes—who by now are very old ladies, if they live—in a wild public infatuation.

Mr. Clausen rolled a perspiring drink of stimulants between his palms as he allowed that Hobson was a very fine officer, though a prohibitionist. He agreed with Lieut. William S. Sims, who wrote that the shooting of the American ships was a disgrace and reorganized the gunnery of the navy.

"Do you know how hits we got?" Mr. Clausen asked. "We

Moral Support Called Need Of U.N. to Enforce Peace

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Nov. 13—The world is faced again with the unsolved question that has plagued civilization for centuries—how to maintain international order and prevent war when there are reckless and irresponsible men at the head of autocratic governments indifferent to all moral suasion.

The drift once again is toward the exercise of military force even as the peoples of the world cry out for some moral force to make governments behave.

Police Force Not Answer

The crisis of the hour is not going to be solved by a United Nations police force. The very idea back of it implies that there is somewhere a military power big enough to make Soviet Russia's volunteers and Egypt's guerrillas, on the one hand, or the British and French and Israeli armies, on the other hand, withdraw in favor of a neutral police and refrain from further conflict. The truth is that the United Nations is only as strong as public opinion in all countries can make it. And before public opinion can be mobilized, there has to be a fair and comprehensive exposition of the facts for all to read and judge.

Thus the Soviet government has brazenly announced that it will send "volunteers" to fight. In fact, it has already sent aviators and technicians to Egypt. This is intervention by force under the full authorization of the Moscow government. The United Nations should be denouncing that action day in and day out and should be reminding the world of a precedent—the Communist "volunteers" who resisted the UN forces in Korea from 1950 to 1953 and inflicted casualties of tens of thousands.

What is even more important now is an expose of the facts of the Soviet involvement in the last several months in arming the Egyptians against the Israelis. The UN cannot get much sympathy throughout the world if it does not focus on the situation produced by the Soviets and confines itself only to criticism of the measures of defense taken by Britain and France against Egypt for the illegal seizure of the Suez Canal.

The world ought to be informed of just what did happen prior to the British and French decision to use military force in reprisal against Nasser's violation of the treaty of 1888. Likewise, the United States government should open its intelligence files and disclose the intrigue engaged in by Nasser with Moscow even as he was negotiating for American funds to help him build the Aswan Dam. The break-off of those negotiations, which has been criticized as "abrupt" by uninformed critics, was directly due to the discovery of deceit and treachery in Cairo. The presence now of many millions of dollars worth of Soviet arms in Egypt—some of it captured by Israel—is confirmation of what was discovered when Nasser was trying to play a double game with America.

UN Needs Courage

Moral force can never be a complete substitute for military force, especially if irresponsible dictators like Nasser are bent on the mad pursuit of power. But the conflict can be localized and the area of hostilities limited if the peoples of all the other nations understand the issues and if the UN has the courage to call a spade a spade.

Hungary Is Example

Thus, the Hungarian situation is an example of a new war between the government of the Soviet Union and the people of Hungary. Here is an act of aggression which has infuriated the whole world. Can the UN protect the independence of any small country when a major power decides to go on an imperialistic rampage? Will the Soviet Union now withdraw her troops from Hungary even as she is demanding that Britain and France withdraw their troops from Egypt? The UN must put the two cases on the same basis and insist that member governments, large or small, in order to earn the right to be called "peace-loving" as the charter provides and in order to retain the respect of mankind, must withdraw military forces from any territory not their own unless the people of that country manifestly desire such troops as a protection. Measures to ascertain the true will of the people are proper ones for the UN to pursue.

The UN has a great opportunity to advance the cause of peace, but it must be backed by the moral force of the world—not only in the United States and in the other free countries, but even behind the Iron Curtain, where the passion of peoples for freedom from tyranny as manifested in Hungary is as strong as it is anywhere else. Put yourself in the West seat for today's hand and defend against the contract of four spades. If you come up with the right answer you can shake hands with Harry J. Fishbein, New York expert, who made the right play when this famous hand was played some years ago.

Fishbein led the queen of clubs, holding the first trick. He continued with another club, and his partner won with the king. East then led the ace of clubs and South followed suit with the jack.

It is now your turn to make a discard from the West hand. What discard do you choose? Fishbein discarded the ace of diamonds. Since he had bid diamonds, he knew that this would not be regarded as a singleton ace. Since dummy had the king of diamonds, moreover, it was clear that Fishbein could not be encouraging a diamond return.

This amazing discard was the one way to make sure that East didn't try to win a diamond trick by shifting to that suit. East was obliged to lead another club, and now Fishbein was sure to make a trick with his queen of spades. This defeated the contract.

School Districts Fewer

Washington, Nov. 13 (AP)—The Census Bureau reports that the number of school districts in the United States has been reduced by more than half since 1942. The bureau said yesterday that the reduction followed consolidation and reorganization of school districts, mostly in rural areas. The federal agency reported that there were 51,881 school-district governments in the nation at the start of the current school year. There were 108,579 in 1942, the bureau said. New York state had a 40.7 per cent reduction in the number of its school districts since 1951.

Announce Key Appointments

International Business Machines Kingston Military Products Division announced three key appointments today.

They are: Charles J. Hesner, Hyde Park, to programming product engineer.

Jerome F. Mills, Wappingers Falls, to product engineering site coordinator.

Fred A. Weber, Belmont, Mass., to XD-1 prototype development engineer.

Mr. Hesner, who joined IBM in March 1950 as an electric typewriter customer engineer, received a bachelor of science degree in electrical engineering from Swathmore College. He became a machine designer for ET in February 1953 and was appointed a technical engineer for project high in September of that year.

Mr. Hesner was transferred to project high programming in October 1954 and subsequently held positions as associate engineer and project engineer. He and his department moved to Kingston December 1955.

Mr. Hesner, a veteran of three years with the U. S. Navy, is a member of the Hyde Park Volunteer Fire Department. He and Mrs. Hesner reside with their two sons at 46 Horsehoe drive, Hyde Park.

Mr. Mills has been associated with IBM for about 15 years, mainly in the field of customer engineering. He joined the organization in June, 1941, as a student customer engineer and, after attending IBM school at Endicott, was assigned to the Brooklyn sales office.

After a three-year leave of absence while in military service, Mr. Mills became a customer engineer in the newly formed Mineola sales office in 1946. In December 1951, Mr. Mills was transferred to the Poughkeepsie plant.

Promotions to associate and project engineer followed as Mr. Mills became engaged in work on tape processing machines and later on project high. In January, 1953, Mr. Mills was transferred to Lexington, Mass., and four months later he was made manager of the IBM installation there. He was appointed manager of prototype development for KMPD there in September 1955 and subsequently has been promoted to development engineer and then senior engineer.

Mr. Mills, a native of Carbondale, Pa., attended high school there and was graduated from Bliss Electrical school. He has also studied several courses at IBM schools.

He is married and has three children.

Mr. Weber began his career with IBM in 1937 on the Endicott assembly line where he worked until 1940. During World War 2 he served five years with the U. S. Air Force, and he returned to IBM at Poughkeepsie in 1945.

Mr. Weber was transferred from the typewriter assembly line there to the research laboratory as a design technician in 1946. From 1951 to 1953 he worked as a technical engineer on construction, design and test of memory storage units, and, in 1953, was transferred to project high to construct and test the AN/FSA-7 core memory.

He was promoted to associate engineer in April 1954 and was made manager of the core memory group a year later. In June he was named manager of several XD-2 groups and became a project engineer two months later.

Mr. Weber was transferred to Lexington, Mass., in October 1955, as manager of XD-1 maintenance and became manager of XD-1 prototype engineering in 1956.

Mr. and Mrs. Weber and their three children live at 13 Harding avenue, Belmont, Mass.

Government Loans Called Challenge To Private Firms

Philadelphia, Nov. 13 (AP)—The year 1956 was viewed as a year for "consolidating the gains of the postwar period" in a report today by the administrator of the United States Savings and Loan League.

In a speech prepared for the league's 64th annual convention, Norman Strunk of Chicago, executive vice president of the organization, also told the 4,000 delegates that the savings and loans business faces "a new challenge to private enterprise in housing—the threat of government direct lending."

Declaring that enthusiasm and support for public housing programs appears to be on the wane, Strunk said "we can keep the 'direct lenders' on the defensive just as we now have the 'public housers' on the defensive."

Strunk said the postwar growth of the savings and loan business—from 8 billion dollars at the close of World War 2 to 42 billion today—has been "vital" to preservation of free-enterprise home financing.

Cites Socialism Angle

"If our institutions had not grown as they have grown," he said, "and provided the funds for home financing in the volume they have provided, the postwar period might well have seen the United States launched on a vast socialistic experiment in housing instead of the tremendous surge toward private home ownership we have enjoyed."

Strunk also predicted that personal savings held by the nation's savings and loan associations will show a gain of approximately 5½ billion dollars this year, a record increase for a single year, but warned of "fierce" competition for available savings because demand far exceeds the supply.

Earlier, the convention—which this year is observing the 125th anniversary of the founding of the first Savings and Loan Association in this city—heard from Albert J. Robertson, chairman of the Federal Home Loan Bank system. This system, which relates to the savings and loan businesses as the federal reserve system relates to commercial banks, was the subject of a special report to the convention, made public yesterday.

Stresses Big Demand

That report, prepared by a special committee headed by Ralph R. Crosby of Providence, R. I., past president of the league, said there will be such a tremendous demand for housing in the 1960s that an enlarged home loan bank system is of vital importance.

This prediction was based on trade estimates that the current record construction level will be doubled in the next decade.

The report proposed that home loan banks be permitted to make long-term advances—up to 10 years—to member savings associations. Under current practice, advances are generally limited to a single year.

In his prepared speech today, Robertson said that the three-member board which he heads has shifted during the year "from a policy of active restraint on credits to one of moderate limitations."

"In order to improve the capacity of savings and loan associations to meet the demand for sound home financing," Robertson continued, "the board on Sept. 20 authorized an increase of 2½ per cent in borrowing limits from the banks for pur-

No Settlement Is in View for Newspaper Strike

Cleveland, Nov. 13 (AP)—For 13 days Cleveland has been without its three major daily newspapers. Talks in the mayor's office between representatives of the publishers and the Cleveland Newspaper Guild resume this afternoon. No settlement is in sight.

None of the three papers—The Evening Cleveland Press, The Morning Cleveland Plain Dealer and The Evening Cleveland News—has printed since Nov. 1. Their combined circulation was about 765,000.

The Guild struck only The Press. The other two papers discontinued, blaming a halt in production on refusal of union drivers to handle newspapers bearing the name of the struck Press in addition to that of the News and Plain Dealer.

Guild Uses Tabloid

For news, about a million and a half greater Clevelanders must turn to radio and TV stations and "The Reporter," a tabloid size daily put out by the Newspaper Guild since Nov. 5. The Guild claims a circulation of about 140,000 and is shooting for 175,000. It is not home-delivered, but is available at news stands, drug stores and the like, for 7 cents.

The big downtown department stores have not been advertising in "The Reporter." The union paper carries about 40 per cent ads in its 16 pages—mostly theatres, employment agencies and automobile firms.

The "Cleveland Shopping News" has revived publication twice a week, on Tuesday and Saturday. J. E. Borchard, president of the publication, said it is almost wholly owned by the large downtown department stores.

posers other than meeting withdrawals. In the aggregate this authorization could make $850 million of additional credit available throughout the system."

Petroleum Industry Speaker Stresses Need for Roads Now

Chicago, Nov. 13 (AP)—The petroleum industry has a double stake in the federal highway construction program, a publishing company executive told oilmen attending the American Petroleum Institute today.

And the project is so badly needed, said Dexter M. Keezer, vice president of McGraw-Hill Publishing Co., that it can't await economic convenience.

Keezer, one of several speakers at a group meeting of the institute, predicted that the number of motor vehicles will increase from today's 65 million to 92 million in 1971.

"Thanks to increased mileage through better highways," he said in a prepared address, "it is estimated that these cars will be * * * using on the average of 250 gallons more gasoline per year than they now use."

Big Asphalt Business

The impact of construction itself will be the near-doubling the present annual use of 50 million barrels of asphalt on highways, Keezer told the API's division of marketing.

Consumption of petroleum products used in highway construction, he predicted, will rise from the 1955 level of 632 million gallons to 1 billion gallons in the expected peak year 1964.

An Oklahoma educator said America needs better scientists, engineers and technicians—not just more of them, and industry must cooperate to this end.

Robert Mac Vicar, dean of the graduate school of Oklahoma A. and M. College, addressed the division of production. Mac Vicar, who is also director of the Frontiers of Science Foundation, said in a prepared address: "Industry is rapidly recognizing that its future is completely dependent upon the quality of training of the people who are going to staff it in the immediate future."

Shortages Cited

In another prepared speech

before the same group, H. W. Ladd of Tulsa, said shortages of casing and tubing probably will continue through 1957. Ladd, of Stanolind Oil and Gas Co. attributed the shortages to the steel strike this year.

A New York public relations counselor told the oilmen that the petroleum industry is well ahead of general industry in providing employees with major basic benefit plans. And he urged them to tell employees about it.

The speaker, C. E. French, in a prepared address, told the Finance and Accounting Division: "More than any other industry," the petroleum industry satisfies the basic employee desire for economic security and demonstrates how the welfare of employees is linked to efficiency and profitability of operations."

Private Trend Coming

A former UN official predicted a trend toward greater reliance on private enterprise in world economics, rather than government action.

Dr. Roy Blough, former director of the department of economic affairs of the UN, in prepared remarks, told the API's government relations group this trend will expend coincidentally as "national self-confidence increases, economic development expands and the number of competent managers and businessmen increases."

Blough, former member of the President's council of economic advisers, now is professor of international business at Columbia University.

Boom Mansfield For Party 'Whip'

Washington, Nov. 13 (AP)—A boom was under way today to name Sen. Mansfield (Mont.) as the Senate's Democratic "whip"

—the legislative term for assistant leader.

There was no sign of opposition to him. Most Democrats seemed to take it for granted that Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas would get another term as their Senate floor leader.

Sen. Smathers (D-Fla.) set off the boom by announcing that he was stepping aside from any consideration for the post and hoped it would go to Mansfield. Smathers said Johnson had asked him to consider taking the whip post after Sen. Earle Clements of Kentucky, who now holds the post, was defeated for re-election.

The Florida Senator said his answer was "no." He said southern and western Democrats should form a working alliance in the Senate, and that he hopes Mansfield would become the new whip.

He said that if "two southerners (himself and Johnson) held top posts in the Senate, it might have invited trouble."

Saugerties Group Agrees to Hold Protest Meeting

The Saugerties Taxpayers Association will conduct the public protest meeting against the new reappraisal program for the Village of Saugerties, according to Attorney Louis P. Francello, spokesman for the group.

The meeting originally scheduled for Wednesday by a committee of residents has been called by the Saugerties Taxpayers Association for Thursday at 8 p. m. in VFW Hall, Livingston street, Saugerties.

Asked to Take Charge

Mr. Francello said that the Taxpayers Association's decision to take charge of the protest meeting was motivated by the numerous requests received from village taxpayers.

Action was initiated by a group of Barclay Heights residents who met last week following the issuance of a brochure listing the names of all property owners in the village with new assessments designed to show 100 per cent valuation.

The meeting at that time reported inequities in the assessments.

Done by Professionals

Gokey Associates of Albany, professional assessors, are in charge of the reappraisal program authorized by the village board of trustees. Authorization for reassessment was voted by the board following a public hearing despite an earlier referendum in which village voters turned down the proposal to reassess all village properties.

The mimeographed listing of reappraisal figures noted that Mr. Gokey will be at the office of the village clerk in Saugerties Municipal Building all this week and Monday and Tuesday of next week, to discuss and review assessments with any taxpayer seeking an adjustment.

Offer Pointers For Prompt Yule Gift-Card Mail

In anticipation of the largest holiday mail volume in the history of the Post Office Department, the nation's chief mailman, Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield outlined 10 basic pointers for users of the mails to follow in order to assure prompt and safe delivery of their Christmas cards and gifts.

1. Address mail fully and clearly. Write legibly or print plainly. Where applicable, use zone numbers on the address and return address. Avoid using abbreviations which might confuse mail handlers.
2. Be certain that a return address is printed on the upper left hand corner of both Christmas cards and parcels. This will prevent any undelivered mail ending up in a "dead letter" office.

Can Jam Machine

3. Do not enclose coins or hard objects of any kind in letters, without marking the envelope for hand stamping. High speed cancelling machines cannot process such letters, often jam and damage letters.

4. Do not mail cash in any Christmas gift. For safety's sake, use Postal money orders or checks.

5. Make sure parcels are well packed and securely wrapped in strong containers. Cushioning material, such as excelsior, shredded newspapers or tissue paper should be evenly and firmly placed on all sides of the Christmas gift. The carton should be wrapped in heavy paper and securely tied with strong twine.

6. Gifts of a delicate nature, such as glass, china, electrical appliances, radios and musical instruments, must be marked "fragile" by the mailer. Food stuffs should be marked "perishable" if subject to spoilage.

7. Insure parcels. Register letters of real value. Where only proof of delivery is required for letters of no intrinsic value use certified mail. Use combination mail where a letter or message—other than a gift tag—is to be enclosed inside a Christmas package.

Offer Free Pamphlet

8. Ask at any post office for free pamphlet, "Post Office Department Publication 3" which contains rates of postage and limits of size and weight for domestic mail. Another free pamphlet at post offices is entitled "Packaging and Wrapping Parcels for Mailing."

9. Mail Christmas cards and parcels early to avoid the last minute rush and waiting in line at the post office. The best times to avoid crowds at stamp windows in most post offices are before 10 a. m. and between 1:30 and 3:30 p. m.

10. Every postal employee is happy to answer questions on postal rules and regulations. Anyone with problems about mailing his Christmas parcels should avail himself of the opportunity of discussing the problems with postal employees and take advantage of their experience.

Mr. Summerfield further emphasized how important it is to start planning now to shop early and mail early for Christmas.

The party was attended by 47 parents, and 41 girls together with 87 boys who are members of the Preps and Cadet department. Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Parker called the square dancing.

The YMCA Mid-Hudson Laymen's Conference will be held at the Newburgh Y on Dec. 2, it was announced by Lou Schafer, general secretary.

The parents committees included Mrs. Eve Oskay and Mrs. Margaret Brown, refreshments; Mr. and Mrs. James Harrington and girls of the Kappa Omicron Hi-Y Club, corresponding and telephone committee. The dance was under the direction of Mr. Schafer and Frank Rebello, youth director.

More than 132 boys and girls attended the Youth Center Dance on Saturday.

Mr. Schafer and Mr. Rebello announced that dances will be scheduled following Kingston High School basketball games which begin in early December.

Health for All

Christmas Seal Parade

This week in communities from Maine to California the 50th American Seal Sale offers to everyone of us an opportunity to join the parade of volunteers against tuberculosis.

The parade which began in the city of Wilmington, Delaware, stretches through every Main street in America. The marchers are as varied as the land through which they move. Their costumes range from the sweeping skirts and winged collars of 1907 through the shapeless sacks of the 20's to the grey flannel suits of 1956. There are eight year old Cub scouts and grandmothers of eighty.

Among them are the famous: Presidents, stars of Broadway and Hollywood, sports figures, great artists and writers. But the names of most are known only to a few. They are the people who have seen the ravages of tuberculosis in their own communities, who have cared, who have acted. They have given what they can of time and money, and their many small gifts have created a strong volunteer organization devoted to the prevention of the nation's number one infectious disease killer.

It has been estimated that over seven million lives have been saved from tuberculosis since the first Christmas Seal was sold. But despite the great progress made, the disease strikes nearly 100,000 people every year, robbing them of months and years of normal life, leaving many with permanent disabilities costing the nation over $600,000,000 every year.

No home will be safe from tuberculosis until all are safe. We can all help make our homes and our families safe, by contributing to our own community's campaign to control the spread of TB. When the mailman brings your Christmas Seal letter from your tuberculosis association, read it and answer it at once. When you join the Christmas Seal parade, when you buy and use Christmas Seals, you help protect the health and happiness of those you love.

President Urges Gratefulness for Freedom in U. S.

Washington, Nov. 13 (AP)—President Eisenhower urged the American people Monday, in a Thanksgiving Day proclamation, to be grateful this nation's foundations of freedom grow stronger every year and give "hope to fettered peoples that they may walk as free men unafraid."

The annual proclamation set aside Thursday, Nov. 22, as "a day of national thanksgiving." It called upon the American people to gather in their places of worship to give thanks to God and "prayerful contemplation to those eternal truths and universal principles of Holy Scripture which have inspired such measure of true greatness as this nation has achieved."

Thoughts in Proclamation

The text of the proclamation: With the completion of the cycle of winter and summer, seed time and harvest, we come to the traditional time of thanksgiving, when our minds and hearts turn to Almighty God in grateful acknowledgement of his mercies throughout the year.

Let us be grateful that the foundations of freedom in our nation grow stronger with each passing year, giving hope to fettered peoples that they may walk as free men unafraid; that the yield of our soil and the production of our factories have been abundant, enriching our lives and enabling us to share our bounty with less fortunate ones in other lands; and that the forces of nature are being harnessed for peaceful purposes, bringing limitless possibilities of comfort and happiness both to ourselves and to future generations.

Cites Pilgrim Fathers

It is also fitting at this season that we should consider God's providence to us throughout our entire history. Let us remember the Pilgrim fathers who, fleeing from religious oppression, landed on a bleak, forbidding shore and began to carve out what became this great republic which it is our happy destiny to love and serve. For their foresight, their courage, and their idealism let us give thanks to the power which has made and preserved us a nation.

Humbly aware we are a people greatly blessed, both materially and spiritually, let us pray this year not only in the spirit of Thanksgiving but also as supplicants for God's guidance, to the end that we may follow the course of righteousness and be worthy of his favor.

Official Proclamation

Now, therefore, I, Dwight D. Eisenhower, President of the United States of America, in accordance with the joint resolution of Congress approved Dec. 26, 1941, which designates the fourth Thursday in November of each year as Thanksgiving Day, do hereby proclaim Thursday, the twenty-second day of November of this year, as a day of national Thanksgiving.

On that day let all of us, of whatever creed, foregather in our respective places of worship to give thanks to God and prayerful contemplation to those eternal truths and universal principles of Holy Scripture which have inspired such measure of true greatness as this nation has achieved. And let us, as the beneficiaries of this greatness, give a good account of our stewardship by helping those in need and by rendering aid, through our religious organizations and by other means, to the ill, the destitute, and the oppressed in foreign lands.

U. S. Seal Affixed

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States of America to be affixed.

Done at the City of Washington, this twelfth day of November in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and fifty-six and of the independence of the United States of America the one hundred and eighty-first.

(Signed) Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Leaflets Over Chungking

Taipei, Nov. 13 (AP)—The city of Chungking, China's World War 2 capital, was one of the targets in an 11-province leaflet raid last night by Nationalist planes over Red China. Air force headquarters said the raid was the biggest and most daring of its kind, and that no Communist planes came up to challenge the Formosa planes dropping leaflets. Chungking, 900 miles from Formosa, is the most distant target so far of the propaganda raids. The leaflets were dropped on Kwangtung, Kwangsi, Kweichow, Szechwan, Hupeh, Hunan, Kiangsi, Chekiang, Kiangsu, Anhwei and Fukien Provinces.

Air Freight Birthday

Washington, Nov. 13 (AP)—The world's largest air freight operation is observing its second birthday. Logair—from "logistics" and "air transport"—was established in November of 1954 to speed the U. S. Air Force supply system. It is now serving 35 domestic air force installations at the rate of 200 million tons miles a year. The operation doubled in size in the last year and a 50 per cent increase is expected in the next year. Commercial planes are used. The air force pays private airlines about 12 cents a ton mile, well below the commercial air freight rate. Logair operates a daily schedule.

The Maya civilization was founded in Mexico and Central America in the year 500 B. C.

The chance is one in three you will have a hospital bill in your family within 12 months. How will you pay it?

Within 12 months—

There's a 1 in 3 chance it will happen to you

Yes—1 in every 3 New York families will have a hospital bill within 12 months. When it happens to you—you'll be glad if you have the protection that covers most hospital bills in full—BLUE CROSS!

If you could see the big bills that pass through our office each day—bills for $300, $500, even $1,000 and higher—you'd understand why your family, indeed every family in the New York area, needs Blue Cross protection.

It's the finest protection you can get. In fact, only Blue Cross covers so many hospital bills in full.

"PAID IN FULL" Protection sets Blue Cross apart

Blue Cross provides the most complete hospital care protection at a cost within reach of most people.

Instead of a set dollar allowance of so much per day . . . which often is not enough to pay a hospital bill . . . Blue Cross covers the actual hospital services most people need to get well.

And Blue Cross provides these paid-in-full "service benefits" at member hospitals without setting a cash limit on them.

So, if you are a non-maternity patient in a semi-private room, chances are your hospital bill will be covered in full for you. Your hospital sends the bill directly to Blue Cross . . . and Blue Cross covers four out of five such hospital bills in full.

Wouldn't you feel safer—wouldn't you be better off—if your family had this kind of paid-in-full protection?

Over six-and-a-half million people in the New York City area—over half of the entire population—rely on Blue Cross for their protection.

And, across the nation, more than 52 million people have joined 86 local Blue Cross plans. Can 52 million Americans be wrong?

How you can protect your family

There are two ways to enroll yourself and your family in Blue Cross: through a Group where you work; or, by direct enrollment (we call it Non-group enrollment). For full details write for the free booklet. It tells you what Blue Cross covers—and does not cover. Today, write New York's Blue Cross, Dept. F-46 80 Lexington Avenue, New York 16, New York.

Hungarian Rebels Push Freedom Bid

Vienna, Nov. 13 (AP)—The Hungarians carried on a gigantic passive protest today against the theft of their freedom, ignoring cold, hunger and the massed might of the Russian army.

Only a handful of bitter-end rebels still fought on against the tanks and guns of 200,000 Soviet troops. But the destruction of their homes and defeat of those who sought to fight off the invaders with meager arms failed to stem Hungarian defiance of the Soviets and their puppet government.

Health Program Major Concern Of City Educators

The many health services available to the children of Kingston schools today are a far cry from the once-a-year "stick out your tongue" examination of years gone by.

A complete physical examination is given every child in the school system.

The objectives of the health department are:

1. That every child be at the best physical condition.
2. That no child be deprived of equal opportunity for growth through education by reason of physical handicaps.
3. To make every effort to bring parents and teachers a greater understanding of factors related to the total health of the child.

The school health department is going all out to provide the utmost in health guidance for children.

The health of each child is appraised every year. In addition to this are subsequent examinations after serious illness and in emergency for communicable disease control. Special examinations for employment certificates, participation in athletics and pre-school round-ups are also part of the program. The vision and hearing of each child are checked yearly, with written notification to parents of results. First aid, too, is part of the daily routine of the school nurse-teacher.

These measures in themselves, however, are not enough.

Throughout the year there is a program of sanitary inspection of all school buildings. There is a check on cleanliness in all school cafeterias.

A continual program of health education is aimed at making the children aware of good health practices, creating a desire to protect their own health and safety.

Dental hygienists examine the mouth of every child to get general picture of the oral health of the whole mouth. Cards are sent to parents notifying them of the examination.

The next step is into the classroom to give instruction in dental health, proper tooth-brushing methods, and other information that will stimulate the children toward desirable dental habits and attitudes.

A school psychologist helps parents and teachers understand children. He uses many tests and instruments to diagnose personality problems. Once he has found reasons for poor adjustment he holds conferences with teachers, parents and guidance counselors to determine the best way to help the child.

Many children are tested periodically to decide whether the prescribed course of action has been effective in making the child happier and more productive in school.

Dr. Irving J. Josephson, medical director of the city's schools, gives a physical check-up to Henry Westbrook, Miss Kathleen Shurter, school nurse, records the data on permanent record card. This is a service that the Board of Education provides for its pupils.

Susan Brayman, a pupil at the George Washington School, has her teeth examined by Mrs. Elizabeth Roose, dental hygiene teacher.

Temporary Stay Order Is Entered

An order denying the application of tavern and restaurant proprietors for a temporary stay of the 1 a. m. closing hour decreed by the local ABC board, has been entered. An appeal was taken to the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court from the decision of Justice Roscoe V. Elsworth which denied the application for an injunction. The order of the Appellate Division was made last week and a copy served on local counsel the latter part of the week.

Trial of an action for a permanent injunction to set aside the ABC 1 a. m. closing hour will be taken up later this month or in December, Arthur B. Ewig counsel for the petitioners said today. If the matter can be moved for trial before a Supreme court justice this month it will be disposed of since a speedy determination in the matter is being sought by the petitioners. It is not anticipated trial of the action for a permanent injunction will be lengthy.

Boy, 15, Electrocuted

Chicago, Nov. 13 (AP)—Martin Ritchie, 15, was electrocuted last night when he short-circuited 5,000 volts atop a utility pole while attempting to hang rock 'n roll singer Elvis Presley in effigy. Police said Ritchie crawled up the pole with a 5 1/2-foot dummy dressed in blue jeans and sweater. The boy's mother said he worked all day making the dummy. Five companions who watched the youth climb the pole, said the dummy was fashioned to resemble Presley. Witnesses said the teenager touched the street light reflector, shouted and toppled from his perch.

Tavern Attorney Sees Prohibition Through Taxation

Washington, Nov. 13 (AP)—An organization of tavern owners was told today "the dries would get their prohibition through taxation" if another national emergency should bring a boost in the federal liquor levy.

Ralph E. Curtiss, Washington counsel for the National Licensed Beverage Assn., said this in remarks prepared for the group's convention. Curtiss said the total tax on liquor already represents more than half the retail price, and he added:

"If we are content to leave the level of taxes where it is today, we face a kind of prohibition by taxation in the event of another national emergency."

Calls For Relief

"Remembering the tax burden that was placed on liquor to produce revenue during the last war," Curtiss said, "you can imagine what the tax rate would be if the present rate were to be used as the starting base for another series of tax increases."

Curtiss asked for what he termed "some realistic relief" from the $10.50-a-gallon excise tax on liquor. He said this tax has "priced many consumers out of the legal market and furnish-

Bendix Official Is Speaker for Quality Control

William A. MacCrehan, Quality Manager of aviation products at Bendix Radio, was principal speaker Tuesday night at the regular monthly meeting of the Mid-Hudson Section of the American Society for Quality Control. Mr. MacCrehan spoke to more than 50 society members and guests at Nick Ben's Anchor Inn in Poughkeepsie on "Vendor-Vendee Relationship — A Challenge to the Economics of Manufacturing."

"To insure satisfactory relationships between vendors and buyers," says Mr. MacCrehan, "a philosophy for quality must be established. It is often true that delivery and price factors influence the quality standards that are acceptable. Certainly product specifications must not be so unrealistic as to impose undue hardships on the supplier."

"Having established the parameters," continued Mr. MacCrehan, "the vendor's quality performance must be fairly evaluated. Many large companies, including Bendix, Boeing, and IBM, employ a system of vendor rating which enables purchasing, quality control, and the supplier to know the quality rating earned on each lot of material submitted. More important than the rating itself, however, is the opportunity this system of reporting offers to vendor and vendee alike to recognize deficiencies and take corrective action."

Henry Lampl, school and clinical psychologist, confers with Miss Blanche Kirschenblum, guidance counselor at the Myron J. Michael School. Such conferences are frequently enlarged to include both the student and his parents.

Mr. MacCrehan's talk was enthusiastically received and was followed by an interesting question and answer period.

The next meeting of the society will feature an address by C. K. Hamlin of the Rome Cable Company, who will speak on "The Application of Quality Control Methods in Wire Manufacturing."

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

I still meet folks who remember or "worked on the ice" during the winter. It was one of the main winter industries for a large number of men up and down our Hudson river.

John Burroughs (1837-1921), famous U. S. naturalist, whose home, Slabside, most every local resident has seen or knows, wrote on the ice industry in an article on the Hudson, which reads in part: "No man sows, yet many men reap a harvest from the Hudson. Not the least important is the ice harvest, which is eagerly looked for, and counted upon by hundreds, yes, thousands of laboring men along its course. Ice or no ice sometimes means bread or no bread to scores of families, and it means added or diminished comforts to many more."

Burroughs further wrote: It is a crop that takes two or three weeks of rugged winter weather to grow, and if the water is very roily or brackish, even longer. It is seldom worked till it presents 7 or 8 inches of clear water ice. Men go out from time to time and examine it, as the farmer goes out and examines his grain, to see when to cut it. If there comes a deep fall of snow the ice is "pricked" so as to let the water up through and form "snow ice." A band of 15 or 20 men, about a yard apart, each armed with a chisel-bar, and marching in line, puncture the ice at each step, with a single sharp thrust. To and fro they go, leaving a belt behind them that presently becomes saturated with water. Ice harvesting was an art and a very important industry to local folks and to New Yorkers who all depended on Hudson river ice.

Burroughs further wrote: "Ice, to be of first quality, must grow from beneath, not from above. It is a crop quite as uncertain as any other. Where there is an abundant harvest, after the ice houses are filled, they stack great quantities of it, as the farmer stacks his surplus hay. Such a fruitful winter was that of 1874-5 when the ice formed 20 inches thick in the Hudson. My house happens to stand where I look down upon the busy Hudson river scene . . . sometimes nearly 200 men and boys, with numerous horses, are at work at once, marking, plowing, planing, scraping, sawing, hauling, chiseling; some floating down the pond on great square islands towed by a horse, or their fellow workmen; others distributed along the ice canal, bending to their ice-hooks, others upon the bridges separating the blocks with their chisel bars; others feeding the elevators; while knots and straggling lines of idlers here and there look on in cold discontent, unable to get a job. The best crop of ice, is an early crop."

What seemed to interest John Burroughs most was the ice going up in the elevators as he wrote: "One of the prettiest sights about ice harvesting is the elevator in operation. When all works well, there is an unbroken procession of the great crystal blocks slowly ascending this incline. They go up in couples, arm in arm, as it were, like friends up a stairway, glowing and changing in the sun, and recalling the precious stones that adorned the walls of the celestial city.

When they reach the platform where they leave the elevator, they seem to step off like things of life and volition; they are still in pairs and separate only as they enter upon the 'runs.' Here the perfect ones are sent into the ice house, while those with a trace of sediment or earthstain, or imperfect texture are rejected."

War on Chestnuts

By FRANK TRIPP

The literary frown upon the cliché threatens to leave a lot of folks speechless and writers wordless. Of a sudden, to quote an old saw has become unpopular in sophisticated circles.

A cliché (kle-shay) is a stale phrase or hackneyed expression; in slang a "chestnut." Almost everyone has his own pet stock of clichés that often dominate his conversation — or an overworked word.

The purists and modernists can have it as they like, and the crusade may silence a lot of chatter, but you must know people who cannot express themselves without rolling out endless stereotyped expressions to convey their meaning.

With most of them it is laziness of mind, that increases with age. We hitch upon words, and phrases and wear them ragged, misapplying them much of the time.

It is one reason that so many talkative people find they cannot write. When they get their thoughts on paper, much that they have written is repetition or should appear in quotes, and they see the petty plagiarism which does not stand out to them in conversation.

THERE IS an almost endless list of the warmed over cabbage that rolls out of mouths of people whose minds are too lazy to invent expressions of their own; or whose tongues wag ahead of worthwhile thoughts.

It is the same mental laziness that makes profanity a habit with otherwise delightful people; to the point that often we accept their curses as meaningless punctuation, not intended to be profane.

Most of us inject our clichés as carelessly as the swearer injects an oath. The brain stops, the tongue wags on, out comes a chestnut—and we're dated.

IF THE BLIGHT that killed the native chestnut trees should hit TV, the drive against clichés would be half won. The other night I caught six frayed yarns of 30 years ago, dished up in one evening.

The boys are digging deep but the old humor stood the test of time against the modern wisecracks which die aborning. So maybe we old fogies can go on cracking our chestnuts.

I've cracked a lot of the kind that grow on trees since my lament for the chestnut shortage. Two kind readers sent me delicious samples from blight resistant Chinese trees in their groves. Another brought me three trees to plant; a lady sent an ode to the chestnut; many wrote nostalgic letters. Several thought my stock of "chestnuts" quite sufficient.

THE CHESTNUT will be gathered by boys and girls again some day. The Chinese tree yields nuts almost exactly like the native American tree, and grows well here.

Washington says that Chinese seedlings sometimes bear nuts in four to five years, but usually it's seven or more. Maybe you'll be puzzled where to plant them, as I was.

In town they would be a sure-fire invitation to armies of kids to raid your place. In the country almost any place you put them, the kids will find them and be there before you are. Remember how we used to scout the woods for chestnut trees in summer and try to keep our secret till the nuts began to fall?

Well, I guess that's all about chestnuts for now. Whether you speak 'em, write 'em, listen to 'em, or eat 'em—the chestnut will always be with us. As will the cliché.

Nursing Committee Reelects Officers

Modena, Nov. 10.—The Public Health Nursing Committee of the town of Plattekill held its November meeting at the home of Mrs. Stewart Pink Monday evening.

The annual election resulted in all officers being re-elected as follows: President, Mrs. Lillian Courter; vice-president, Mrs. Earl B. DeWitt Sr.; secretary, Mrs. Simon DuBois; treasurer, Mrs. Frank M. Coy.

The date of the card party sponsored by the committee members scheduled Tuesday evening, Dec. 4, has been changed to Monday, Dec. 3, owing to the date conflicting with a turkey supper to be served at the Plattekill Grange.

Attending Monday evening meeting were the public health nurse serving this area, Mrs. H. Kent; Mrs. Bernard Kopaskie of Plattekill; Mrs. Simon DuBois, Mrs. Roy Jensen, Mrs. Frank M. Coy, Mrs. William Decker, Mrs. Earl B. DeWitt Sr., and the hostess, Mrs. Pink.

Members of the committee assisted in the child health consultation and clinic conducted Wednesday, Nov. 7, at the hall.

The date of this clinic was announced by the president of the Public Health Nursing Committee of the town of Plattekill. The notice appearing in the local papers that the date is Nov. 14, given from another source, is in error, she said.

The regular meeting of the committee will be resumed in January 1957, at the home of Mrs. Kopaskie in Plattekill.

Makes Expensive Minks

Portland, Maine (AP)—What gives mink that expensive look? It's an expensive, quick frozen food made out of ground-up fish. George Lewis, Portland businessman, owns four New England factories that produced 100 million pounds last year out of whiting, and what's left of redfish, or ocean perch, after the fillets have been cut out. He estimates his plants provide nearly three-fourths of the nation's mink farm food requirements.

Carol Haynes Weds Alexander Jeffs In Double Ring Ceremony at Old Dutch

Miss Carol Esther Haynes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar R. Haynes of RFD 3, Kingston, exchanged marriage vows with Alexander Frederick Jeffs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy G. Jeffs of Samsonville, Sunday, Oct. 28, at 3 p. m. in the Old Dutch Church.

Officiating at the double ring ceremony was the Rev. Everett E. Herron, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene in Kingston.

Mrs. Clarence Beeher was at the organ and Gilbert Cicio sang several traditional selections.

White mums and candelabra decorated the church for the occasion.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white tulle gown with a fitted bodice and long lace sleeves which ended in points over the wrists. Her bouquet skirt ended in a chapel length. A crown of seed pearls and iridescent sequins secured a fingertip veil of French illusion and she carried a cascade bouquet of white roses, ivy leaves and baby's breath.

Mrs. Regina Van Sickle, cousin of the bride, was the matron of honor. She wore a blue net and lace strapless gown fashioned with a ruffled skirt worn over tulle and a hoop and a matching bolero. A net crown of matching color secured a flirtation veil and Mrs. Van Sickle carried a colonial bouquet of yellow roses.

Serving as attendants were Miss Joan Heiser, a friend of the bride and Mrs. Lillian Grey, sister-in-law of the bride. Their gowns were styled identically as the honor attendant except in pink and they carried colonial bouquets of pink roses and baby's breath.

Miss Linda Haynes, sister of the bride, was the junior bridesmaid. She was attired in the same style gown as worn by the bridesmaids and carried pink roses.

Miss Lucille Haynes was the flower girl for her sister. She wore a yellow tulle gown styled with a lace yoke and a bouffant skirt. Miss Haynes carried a basket of white, blue and yellow flowers. A crown of net completed her outfit.

Richard Grey, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, was the best man. Serving as ushers were Robert Forster of Walden, cousin of the bride, Norman Grey, brother-in-law of the bridegroom and John Krom of Marletown, cousin of the bride.

A reception was held in Bethany Hall for approximately 125 guests following the church ceremony.

Mrs. Jeffs is a graduate of Kingston High School and was employed by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

The bridegroom, a graduate of Ellenville High School also served with the navy for four years. He is now employed by Walter Davenport and Sons in High Falls.

For her wedding trip to Niagara Falls, the bride chose a three piece tweed suit of charcoal grey with fur trim, black accessories and a corsage of white roses.

When Mr. and Mrs. Jeffs return, they will make their future home in Samsonville.

ANSWERING TELEPHONE

"Is it proper for a visitor to pick up the telephone and answer it should it ring, when in someone else's house? This happened to me the other afternoon and I was not sure what to do. The person whom I went to see was not an intimate friend while I was there she was called out of the room. The telephone, which was in the same room as I was, rang. My hostess either did not hear it or could not come to the telephone, and it kept ringing. Will you please tell me if it would have been proper for me to answer it, or should I have just let it ring?"

You might have gone to the door and called to her that her telephone was ringing. If she did not answer you should have gone back to your chair and let it ring.

Duties of Bridegroom's Parents

Dear Mrs. Post: What are the duties of the bridegroom's parents before the wedding? They live in the same city as the bride's family but they are not personal friends.

Answer: There are no special duties beyond the visit they are expected to pay on the girl's family when the engagement is announced, and to buy the bride as nice a wedding present as they can afford. It is always very friendly on the part of the man's relatives and special friends who don't know the girl, to invite her (and if possible her family) to a gathering before the wedding.

Velvet Stole

Dear Mrs. Post: I have a pretty black velvet stole dotted with tiny rhinestones and seed pearls. I would like to know if it is proper to wear it in the daytime. I wore it to church last Sunday morning and was told that it was not proper. Will you please give me your opinion?

Answer: It would be entirely proper for a late daytime party, but not suitable for church.

Would you like an attractive table for your next dinner party? Mrs. Post's booklet No. 504, "Etiquette of Table Setting," describes table settings, decorations and many other details. The modern observation that "books have been with us for ages—especially those we borrowed and promised to return next week" brings to mind a little-remembered comment of Mark Twain.

A visitor to the humorist's home commented upon the abundance of books, and the rather limited accommodations for them.

"Yes" agreed Mark, a bit wistfully, "yes, but it's so difficult to get friends to loan you shelves."

The Mature Parent

Do What You Think Is Right, Not What Other Parents Do

BY MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Writes Mrs. W.: "When our 15-year-old girl has friends in, her father and I retire upstairs. Now she wants us to leave the house. She says her friends think our remaining in it during a party reflects on their right to look after themselves. Asking around, I find that many parents do leave the house for teenage parties. What do you think about this? I can't help feeling it's wrong..."

Then don't do it. The issue is your self-respect, Mrs. W.—not whether to leave home when your child entertains.

The real problem is: Should I do what other parents do—or should I do what I think is right for me to do? Let's be kind when we tell our child that we've decided not to conform with other parents' behavior. The news will shock her terribly.

At her age, youngsters are more rigidly conservative than the most proper Victorian parents. So we must be gentle as we decide our revolutionary refusal to allow our "group" do our thinking for us. If we're both kind and firm, we won't lose by our stand. Though the adolescent idolizes his crowd's approval, he doesn't really enjoy his dependence on it. He will shriek with anguish if we refuse to be bullied by it—but the fact is, he's very relieved to see that domination by crowd standards need not be a permanent state of bondage.

Mrs. W. knows all this herself. We all do. We sometimes forget it because certain child guidance people's answer to this problem is, "Find out what other parents do—then do it, too." So let me remind you that this is the answer of people who revere "adjustment" to our community as their First Commandment.

Actually, when they ask us to "adjust" our decisions for our children to what our neighbors decide for theirs, they are saying, "Let your community raise your children for you." Though this policy may work out beautifully for everyone in South Sea cultures, in ours it just produces untrained children. Indeed, the fact that so many parents do look to everyone but themselves to train their children is the chief problem of schools and the mental hygiene profession.

Recently the magazine "Psychiatry" protested against what our fear of any independent thought and action is doing to its profession.

Said Dr. Leslie H. Farber, himself a psychiatrist, "Morality itself has been turned over to us, along with philosophy and religion. We never asked for a burden of power such as this which amounts to our taking over the sole responsibility for the human fate." (All rights reserved, NEA Service, Inc.)

Retiring NATO Head to Become Red Cross Leader

Washington, Nov. 13 (AP)—Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, retiring commander of North Atlantic Treaty (NATO) forces in Europe, will become president of the American Red Cross Jan. 1. The White House announced yesterday the appointment of Gruenther, a close friend of President Eisenhower, to succeed Ellsworth Bunker as head of the Red Cross.

Bunker, 62, said in a statement through the Red Cross here that he wanted to turn the Red Cross post over "to capable and competent hands" before he reaches retirement age.

May Go to India Responsible officials said, however, that Bunker is being given serious consideration for the long-vacant post of U. S. ambassador to India, vacated when John S. Cooper resigned to run successfully for the Senate in Kentucky.

Bunker, a Democrat who served under former President Truman as ambassador to Argentina and Italy, is now serving temporarily on the American delegation to the UN General Assembly.

Asked in New York about his possible appointment, Bunker replied "I can't say a word on that subject. I just can't say anything."

You Going to a Fire? This Man Did at 65

BY BEULAH STOWE

Alben Campbell, a city fireman in New Jersey for 37 years, was retired last November. His hair was still black and his arms were still strong, but he was 65 years old.

He and his wife sold their brick bungalow. He had only a small mortgage remaining, so they left with a pension and about $9,200 in hand.

They took off on a gray, smoke-filled morning, from the city they had loved for 37 years. They headed toward Florida. "We were looking for a warmer climate," Campbell told me, "but we were also in search of a very special sort of a town. We were looking for a town small enough to be in need of a well-trained, one-man, city-retired fire department."

"We found it before we ever got to Florida. I sold myself to the town fathers as fire chief, to head their volunteer firemen, and I set out to help purchase the equipment the town needed for adequate fire protection."

At 66, Alben Campbell became a chief, instead of just one of the Indians. He has something to do, he is making some money, and he is a man of authority and position.

Isn't there somewhere that you, Mr. Expert facing retirement, can supply your knowledge and experience? You might as well use it; you might as well share it. In most cases you will be happier in looking for a place to put it, than you would be in putting it away.

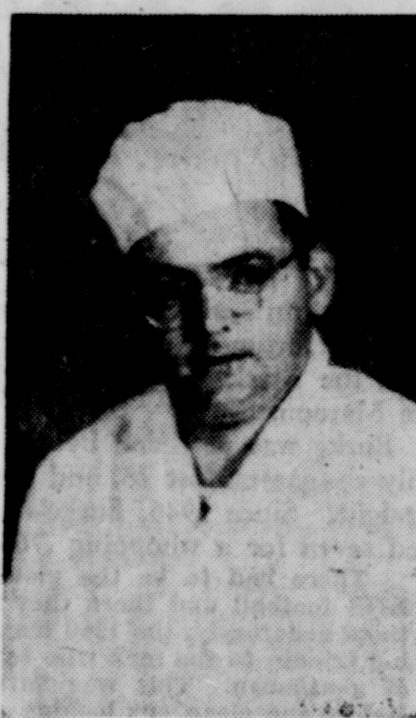

Q—"Our children, both married, are calling on us more and more to take care of the grandchildren when they want to go out. How can my husband (who is retired) and I evade this thing without seeming awful?"—Mrs. J. W. C.

A—"You should not be expected to baby-sit. You reared your own children, and you have already done your stint at baby tending. Next time you are called, just say you are expecting guests. The more you allow yourself to be used the more of a servant to your children you will become. Help them often enough to be useful, but not so often that you merely become "used."

Q—"I will receive a monthly pension of $175 from my company, plus a Social Security payment of about $84.50 when I retire. Will my wife, who is 61, also receive a Social Security payment when she reaches 65?"—D. R. S.

A—"She will be entitled to receive one-half the amount of your monthly Social Security payment, when she is 65, in addition to what you receive."

Dick The Bruiser Set In Wrestling Feature

Wild Man Fargo To Be Opponent

A new television favorite on the Washington, D. C. circuit—Dick The Bruiser, a 245-pound hulk of fury has been signed to appear in the wrestling headliner Monday, Nov. 19, at the municipal auditorium.

The bruiser, reportedly a former Green Bay football star who wishes to cloak his identity, takes on Wild Man Fargo, 227, of Charlotte, N. C. in the best-of-three falls feature.

Rough Match

Local fans who have seen Fargo in action twice and know of The Bruiser's exploits on TV are drooling at the prospect of watching the two behemoths clobber each other here next Monday.

"It figures to be one of the roughest and most exciting wrestling matches ever seen in Kingston," Promoter Ted Bayly of Troy predicts.

The remainder of the card will be announced later.

Hereford Steer Is Grand Champ

Timonium, Md., Nov. 13 (AP)—A prize-winning, 1,015-pound Hereford steer named "Ike" competed with the best open class steers today in judging to select the grand champion of the Eastern National Livestock Show.

The big Hereford was exhibited by 18-year-old Joseph Walker of Norfolk, Va., yesterday and was named grand champion of the 4-H and Future Farmers of America entries. It was the second time Walker has exhibited at the Eastern National. He won a first prize in 1951.

Walker, a veteran of eight years in 4-H work, plans to study animal husbandry at Virginia Polytechnic Institute.

His prize-winning Hereford will draw a premium price on the auction block tomorrow and he stands to get more should Ike win in today's judging. All of the cattle go on the auction block Wednesday with the top winners going for thousands of dollars.

In open-class judging yesterday, 14-year-old Constance (Connie) Quesenberry of Georgetown, Pa., took two championships and a first place in all three classes of steers. It was the first time in the show's history that any one exhibitor ever did this.

Her shorthorn steer, weighing 1,005 pounds, was judged the champion of that division. Her Aberdeen Angus won reserve champion honors and her Hereford steer took first place in its class.

Top honors in open class lamb judging largely went to exhibitors from Penn State and Virginia Polytechnic Institute.

Among the big individual winners in lamb judging were Francis and Edwin Munceaster, a brother team from Hamilton, Va., and Arlene Bee and James Gent Jr., both of Elkridge, Md.

Tenpin Game Arrives Big Time Bowlers Roll At The Garden Tonight

Big time bowling makes its debut in Madison Square Garden tonight, when some of the nation's outstanding bowlers compete for a $5,000 kitty. A crowd of 10,000 is expected.

The matches will be rolled on a specially constructed single pair of alleys equipped with glass kickbacks. According to Vic Kalman, the promoter, this will be the first such use of glass. The glass will enable the spectators to watch the pinfall on every shot.

Heading the card will be the national match game champions—Bill Lillard of Chicago and Ann Cantaline of Detroit. Lillard in 1955 became the first bowler to take both the All Star and American Bowling Congress titles in one year.

Carter, Hoover Set

Two other star western bowlers who will compete against a trio of eastern hotshots are Don Carter of St. Louis and Dick Hoover of Akron, both former national champions.

Representing the east will be Graz Castellano of Jackson Heights, the New York city match game champion; Jim Bernotas of Bayonne, N. J., who recently won the New Jersey-Pennsylvania eliminations and Leonard Mal of Buffalo.

In a special women's match Anita Cantaline will oppose Marion Tourash of Brooklyn, who has won virtually every title in New York state in the last three years.

Andy Varipapa, the trickshot specialist from Hempstead, L. I., will give an exhibition.

There will also be a special match for a winner-take-all purse of $1,000 between Lou Campi of Dumont, N. J. and Tony Sparando of Rego Park, Queens, the 1954 ABC singles champion.

Propose Two New State Ski Slopes

Saranac Lake, Nov. 13 (AP)—Ski centers were recommended today for Mount Morris and Mount McIntyre in the Adirondacks.

Ski experts at a hearing of the joint legislative committee on winter tourism recommended also that skiing facilities on Whiteface Mountain be improved.

John Stock, who represented the Tupper Lake Chamber of Commerce, said parts of 4,000-foot-high Mount Morris were available for ski development although owned by private interests. Mount Morris is near Tupper Lake, 25 miles west of Lake Placid.

William Hovey Jr., a Lake Placid ski instructor, recommended that 5,112-foot-high Mount McIntyre be developed for skiing. It is located 12 miles east of Lake Placid and is state-owned. A constitutional amendment would be needed to permit construction there.

Hungarians Raise Nationalist Flag In Olympic Area

Melbourne, Nov. 13 (AP)—The red, white and green Nationalist flag of Hungary was raised at the Olympic Village today in an uneventful official ceremony believing the international tensions still threatening the games, scheduled to begin in nine days.

In direct contrast to yesterday's demonstration by Hungarian expatriates during which the Communist Hungarian banner was torn down and slashed with a knife, some 60 athletes and officials stood quietly as the traditional flag went up.

The chief of the Hungarian delegation, Julius Hegyi, had said earlier that the change of flag was ordered before he left his country. At the time, Nationalists temporarily were in power and Hegyi said he since had received no instructions to restore the Communist flag.

Politics Shroud Games

But while calm surrounded the flag-raising ceremony, there were renewed indications that the International Olympic Committee would be unable to divorce the games from world politics as it had hoped.

There were these developments:

1. A spokesman for Syria's Olympic committee said the Arab states will ask the IOC to ban Britain, France and Israel from participating in the games on grounds that "Anglo-French-Israeli aggression against Egypt constitutes a serious contravention of international ethics, principles and traditions."
2. A Swedish member of the IOC admitted that five Scandinavian countries—Sweden, Norway, Denmark and Iceland—plan a meeting soon to consider the Suez crisis, but said that as of now they plan to compete.
3. Hegyi, himself, refused to answer questions on the subject of whether Hungarian athletes would compete against the Russians.

Egyptian Suggestion

Egypt had suggested recently that the committee bar Britain, France and Israel and the Syrian announcement was in the nature of confirming that all the Arab states will back the move.

The Swedish announcement followed a story which appeared in Melbourne papers reporting that Sweden, Norway, Finland, Denmark and Iceland were to meet today to consider withdrawal. Six nations—Spain, Holland, Iraq, Egypt, Red China and Lebanon—have withdrawn so far. Switzerland announced its withdrawal, then decided to compete.

Major General Gustav Drysen—Swedish member of the IOC, said the Suez situation will be considered within a day or two but added: "Unless there are further major developments in the crisis, we will participate here."

Hockey Goal Net Inventor Is Dead

Beamsville, Ont., Nov. 12 (AP)—The man credited with inventing goal net in hockey; William D. Fairbrother, 82, died yesterday.

A goal tender for Beamsville in the old Southern Ontario Hockey Association about 1900, Mr. Fairbrother had a net made by a fisherman and strung it on his goal posts. The idea was immediately adopted by the Association and spread.

Use of the net greatly reduced the number of disputes arising from goal umpires' decisions.

Beliveau Retains NHL Point Lead in NHL

Montreal, Nov. 13 (AP)—Jean Beliveau of the Montreal Canadiens failed to bag a goal in four games this past week but he collected three assists to boost his National Hockey League scoring total to 17 points, according to the figures released today.

Ted Lindsay of the Detroit Red Wings remained in second place with 16 points. He added four points to his total last week with three goals and one assist. Doug Harvey was third with 14 points.

SPORTS

Charles J. Tiano

It was an era of depression and confusion for Kingston High football fortunes, before Coach Bill Burke was transformed from the Black Knight of Highland to the Prince Valiant of the Maroon.

Burke was preceded by six seasons in which Kingston won only six games, lost 28, and tied two. In 1944, they lost seven straight. Since 1946, Burke's squads have won 58, lost 18 and tied seven for a whopping .763 percentage.

There had to be the pioneers of this glorious decade of KHS football and there they were, the years having treated them generously, the 1946 team assembled in union and paying tribute to the man who taught them football and the code of gentlemen. This was Saturday night at the VFW Hall. Before the clean cut looking group was assembled the ingredients of one of the most stupendous banquet meals we had ever seen.

Then the speech making began. Dick McCarthy, the ex-broadcaster, called on Billy Blume, the pint-sized setback of the '46 team to make a presentation to Coaches Burke and Russ Cunningham. McCarthy termed Blume "still a giant" and his old mates cheered him to the echo.

Arnold Bellini, a co-captain, said how nice it was to re-unite with the old gang. The sports editor paid tribute to the 1946 team and Bill Burke's record. Then Burke arose to tell the group: "For sheer heart and courage they were the best in the 27 years I have been coaching." And you knew he meant it. And he spoke of the change in game psychology since 1946. "In those days we didn't know whether we wanted to kick or receive when we won the toss," he went on. "Today we know, we want the ball. I shall always have a warm spot in my heart for this team."

Burke recalled the first meeting with Middletown when the Middies clobbered Kingston 31-7. "The Middletown coach asked me how I liked the game," he recalled. "I told him we didn't like it at all. We beat them 7-6 the second time around that year and it was eight years before they beat us again."

Dick McCarthy recalled that he had once overheard a man say "I waited for the day when my son could play football for him (Burke)." "That," said McCarthy "was probably as fine a tribute as was ever paid Bill Burke."

Bill Leehive, who with Bernard Feeney and Clarence S. Rowland engineered the coup that brought Burke from Highland re-laid enthusiastic differences of opinion among members of the Board of Education. Some felt that too much emphasis was being placed on football. One elderly member of the Board who had long since strayed from the strange language of the sports pages had blandly inquired:

"Is he (Burke) that good?" "Well, he's only been beating our ears in for the last five years," countered Leehive. He had, too, four of five times.

Eventually the Board was won over and Burke offered a 5-year contract. But there remained the question of placing Burke's good right bower, Russ Cunningham. The budget had to be scrambled around a bit but Cunningham came along, too.

"When we lost two of the first three games, we began to wonder why we fought so hard to get the two gentlemen," Leehive recalled. To which Burke quipped: "After losing those games Russ and I started wondering why we ever let Highland." Burke recalled that a couple of prima donnas had turned in their uniforms after the second Kingston setback. "They are not with us tonight," he said, "for which I am happy."

In such a group of Olympians there is always one who stands out, one around whom the others rally. And that one is Bill Kites, who later became football captain at Lehigh. The other giants—Joe Albany, Big Ed Weaver, Mike Rienzo—had done well. There exists a strong bond of affection between those players and their coaches. And when Vince DeLuca and Arnold Bellini hoped that they would re-unite in the future, we knew they would.

Bill Leehive said the 1946 team had been an inspiration to all KHS teams since then. We now hope the 1956 team draws enough inspiration from those gallant Burke pioneers to write their coach and themselves into the all-time record book on Thanksgiving Day. They can do that by beating Newburgh and we know they will.

Orange Seeks Sixth Straight Over Colgate U.

Syracuse, Nov. 13—Syracuse University's Eastern gridiron kingspin gun for their sixth win in a row over arch-rival Colgate here next Saturday as the two teams meet for the 57th time on the gridiron in a series that dates back to 1891.

Coach Ben Schwartzwalder's Orangemen, 6-1 on the season after Saturday's 41-20 triumph over Holy Cross, have whipped Colgate every year since 1950, when the Raiders earned a 19-14 victory.

Although Syracuse unlimbered a potent passing attack against Holy Cross, the game is expected to be a battle between the Saltine running game and Colgate's passing assault.

Guy Martin, the slick Colgate senior, rates as "the best passer we see this fall," according to Schwartzwalder. Martin has tossed eight TD passes this year and succeeded on more than half of his throws.

Johnston Leads Scorers in NBA

New York, Nov. 13 (AP)—Neil Johnston, the Philadelphia Warriors' center whose three-year reign as scoring king ended last season was back on top among the National Basketball Association scoring leaders, figures showed today.

The 6-9 pivot man bagged 100 points during the past week to climb into first place with 154. Bob Pettit of St. Louis, the defending champion, moved into second place with an 88 point spree in the Hawks' three games, giving him a total of 145.

Clyde Lovellette, Minneapolis' giant center, was third with 141. Dolph Schayes of Syracuse, last week's leader, dropped to fourth with 132 points.

ground-gainer, will headline the Orange ground attack. The Manhasset, N. Y. Mauler needs just 17 yards to top George Davis' 805 yard individual rushing mark, set in 1949. Brown has galloped 789 yards this season, an average of 112.7 per contest.

Extensive Improvements at Ski Centers; Belleayre Mountain Gets New T-Bar Lift

Installation of a new T-bar at Belleayre Mountain, the state-operated ski center in the Catskills, is among extensive improvements at several ski centers around New York state, Commerce Commissioner Edward T. Dickinson has announced.

In anticipation of a big winter season, 48 centers have indicated they will be ready to welcome skiers as soon as there is sufficient snow.

There will be three new centers this season—two in the Catskills at Roxbury and Highmount and a third at Fabius in the Syracuse-central New York area, Commissioner Dickinson said.

A Roebing Lift

A Roebing lift, the new T-bar at Belleayre will be 3,000 feet long with an ascent of 800 vertical feet. Now being installed it will be ready for operation by the first of the year. The Ontario and Utsayantha trails at Belleayre have been extended and there are plans for two new trails.

Between the Belleayre development and Highmount Ski Center, a new privately-operated slope for beginners to be known as Belleayre will open with a 1,000-foot J-bar lift. It expects to draw the overflow from Belleayre.

The Roxbury center is a 1,000-acre tract. By Dec. 1, two trails on several slopes served by two rope tows and a 2,000-foot T-bar are expected to be ready for use. One trail is a mile and a half long, the other a mile. Vertical descent is 700 feet. The development is 3,500 feet above sea level and is within three hours driving time of New York City. The parking lot can accommodate 4,000 cars.

Trail at Bearpen

On the other side of the Roxbury center is Bearpen Mountain ski development, where an additional trail, having a drop of 650 feet in a run of 3,000 feet, has been added. A new lodge has been built at the foot of Bearpen Mountain from which snow jetties will make the 20-minute trip to the summit lodge.

The Fabius development, known as Toggenburg Ski Center, comprises 60 acres with a cleared area 1,000 feet wide. There is a vertical elevation of 700 feet and a 1200-foot rope tow.

Improvements also are planned at Highmount Ski Center, a private project operated by the Davenport family.

Information on New York State ski centers is given in a new guide "Ski New York" which can be obtained free from the State Department of Commerce, 112 State street, Albany 7, N. Y.

Master Boing Sold for 100G

Laurel, Md., Nov. 13 (AP)—Master Boing, French-bred winner of yesterday's Laurel International race was sold immediately afterward to two Americans, N. B. Hunt, Dallas oil man, and Edward L. Stephenson, of Warrington, Va.

The reported sales price for the three-year-old colt was around $100,000. Depending on customs payments the thoroughbred might be shipped back to France for the official sale and then returned to this country.

In any event, the horse will be pointed for the $100,000 San Juan Capistrano race at Santa Anita, Calif., March 9.

Sooners Ousted Tennessee Takes Over Poll Lead

(The Associated Press)

Tennessee and Oklahoma came down to the wire in a photo finish in this week's Associated Press football poll but the final closeup showed Tennessee the No. 1 team by two points.

Tennessee drew such strong runnerup support that the bundle of second place votes overcame Oklahoma's wide edge in first place ballots. The final count gave Tennessee 1,446 and Oklahoma 1,444 points.

How They're Rated

Sports writers and sports-casters who participate in the weekly poll of major college teams rate their top 10 selections in order. A first place vote earns 10 points, a second gets nine and so on down the line to tenth place and one point. The point total determined the ratings. Oklahoma led Tennessee in first place votes 92-58 but Johnny Majors and the Vols has a wider second place edge 75-34.

Although Oklahoma has won 37 straight and led the poll every week except one, when Michigan State took over in October, the second place votes did it for Tennessee, a 6-0 winner over Georgia Tech in a battle of the unbeaten. Oklahoma had romped over Iowa State 44-0.

Rugged Opposition

The one-two teams face rugged opposition Saturday. Tennessee entertains Mississippi (No. 19), a rugged club that has won the Southeastern Conference title the last two seasons. Oklahoma faces Missouri, a team that partially atoned for its four defeats by holding Colorado to a 14-14 tie last week.

Michigan State, which nosed out Georgia Tech and Texas Aggies in a struggle for third place with 993 points, has Minnesota (No. 17) next on its schedule after its 12-9 victory over Purdue. Georgia Tech plays Alabama.

The unbeaten Texas Aggies, tied only by Houston in eight starts, finished fifth in the standings. The Aggies, convincing 37-7 winners over Southern Methodist play Rice this week.

Ohio State vs. Iowa

Two of the top 10 clubs are involved on a Saturday battle between Ohio State (No. 6) and Iowa (No. 7). Ohio State, the Western Conference leader, can strengthen its position by disposing of the strong Iowa team that beat Minnesota 7-0.

Miami, idle last week but still clinging to eighth place, faces a serious challenge Friday night from unbeaten but twice-tied Clemson (No. 13).

Syracuse, the No. 9 club, finishes one of its best seasons in many years by playing Colgate, an unranked traditional rival and Michigan, No. 10, takes on off-beaten Indiana.

The top teams with first-place votes and won-lost records in parentheses:

1. Tennessee (58) (7-0)	1,446
2. Oklahoma (92) (7-0)	1,444
3. Michigan State (39) (6-1)	993
4. Georgia Tech (6-1)	949

6. Ohio State (13) (6-1)	720
7. Iowa (6-1)	483
8. Miami (1) (5-0)	33
9. Syracuse (6-1)	246
10. Michigan (5-2)	240
11. Oregon State (1) (6-2)	202
12. Florida (2) (6-1)	88
13. Clemson (5-2)	88
14. Southern California (6-1)	78
15. Navy (5-1)	58
16. Pittsburgh (5-1)	52
17. Minnesota (5-1)	47
18. Georgia Washington (6-1)	47
19. Mississippi (6-2)	22
20. Princeton (7-0)	20

Art Larsen Still In Critical Condition

Castro Valley, Calif., Nov. 13 (AP)—Art Larsen, 31, former national amateur tennis champion, remained unconscious and in critical condition today, 72 hours after suffering head injuries in a motor scooter accident.

He lapsed into unconsciousness before a three-hour operation early Sunday disclosed a ruptured brain artery. An Eden Hospital spokesman said he was "critical, but better than expected."

Larsen was returning to his nearby San Leandro home when his Italian scooter overturned on the Eastern Freeway. Police found him several hours after the accident.

New York, Nov. 13 (AP)—Randy Sandy with a five-fight win streak under his belt thinks he is back where he was before his career was interrupted by two years in the army.

Sandy won a unanimous decision last night in 10 fiery rounds with John L. Sullivan of Preston, England at St. Nicholas Arena. The winning New Yorker weighed 157½, Sullivan 161 pounds.

Referee Barney Felix scored it 6-3-1. Judge Al Singer 6-4, and judge Bill Recht 5-3-2, all

Bennett of Tennessee Lost for the Season

Knoxville, Tenn., Nov. 12 (AP)—Tennessee's 6-0 football victory over Georgia Tech cost the Vols the services of junior blocking back Bill Bennett for the remainder of the season.

Trainer Mickey O'Brien said today Bennett, a member of the Vols' No. 2 unit, suffered a bone fracture in the right leg just above the ankle. He is out for the remainder of the season, O'Brien said.

U. S. Jumpers Head Horse Show

Toronto, Nov. 13 (AP)—The United States' equestrian team has a big lead in the international jumping phase of the Royal Winter Fair Horse Show today with a team trophy added to the pair of individual triumphs scored last weekend.

A clutch ride by Billy Steinkraus gave the U. S. the first team trophy of the 8-day competition last night.

Needing a faultless ride to defeat Mexico, Steinkraus and his mount did just that. The team, including Hugh Wiley and Frank Chapot in addition to Steinkraus, wound up with three faults to four for Mexico.

Last Friday and Saturday, Steinkraus and Wiley won individual events.

SKUNK FUR IS 1ST TO BECOME PRIME EACH FALL. WHERE TRAP- PERS HAVE A SELECTION OF ANI- MALS TO TRAP, THEY WILL DO WELL TO CONCENTRATE ON SKUNK UNTIL OTHER FUR BEARERS ARE PRIME IN THIS ORDER: COON, MARTEN, FIS- HER, MUSKRAT, OTTER, MINK, BEAVER AND FOX (FOX AFTER 1 OR 2 SNOWS). MOST STATES AND PROVINCES SET A SEASON FOR FUR BEARERS. YOU MIGHT DELAY TRAPPING A WEEK OR 2 FOR FULLY PRIME FUR. IN AREAS WHERE WEASELS TURN WHITE, AT THAT TIME ALL OTHER FUR IS PRIME. IF STRETCHED HIDES TURN BLUE, IT MEANS FUR WASN'T PRIME.

Back at Alma Mater
Three former Michigan State football stars—Sonny Grandelius, Doug Weaver and John Polonchek—now are assistant coaches at their Alma Mater.

Minnesota Gophers are more enamored with the football exploits of Bobby Cox, their "Ronnie Knox, j.g." . . . than they are with the cocky ex-Washingtonian himself. . . .

Steve Owen may have a great reputation as a defensive coach . . . but there's at least one Philadelphia defender who's not crazy about the way Steve has set up the Eagle defense. . . .

Guy Martin, the Phi Beta Kappa quarterback of the Colgate Red Raiders, is an imminent Rhodes Scholar . . . who passed his oral exam the morning before he went out to pass against Princeton. . . . Yale, incidentally, is still miffed at Colgate because the kid passed up New Haven . . . what swung him was an interview with school president Everett Case (not North Carolina State basketball coach), who said: "If you want to go to school to play football, don't come here." . . .

Big Ten schools overlooked Al Jamison, the 6-4, 225-pound end bruiser of Colgate, because they didn't believe he was healthy enough . . . the Ohioan (Toledo) used to have stomach trouble. Dan Florio, the man who trains Floyd Patterson, grew up in the same New York neighborhood with Gene Tunney—Greenwich Village . . . and remembers a street fight he had with the Manly Marine . . . seems as kids Dan once went swimming and Tunney copped his brand new shoes—"cost two bucks, which was lot of dough" . . . so Florio went after him. . . . Who won? . . . "I got the shoes back, didn't I?" . . .

Patterson shrugs when reminded his untested chin may be vulnerable to a punch . . . "I'm not going to try and prove it." . . .

Last year Wake Forest had a prominent All-America tackle candidate who, it was figured, would go high on the professional draft lists . . . so when the New York Giants contacted the Deacon coach, he said, "Forget about our All-America. If you really want our football player, get Gerald Huth" . . . a kid nobody had heard of. . . . Huth made the Giants at 210 pounds, about 25 pounds below average in the National Football League . . . the other kid's in Canada.

The pros should give punt receivers running room by adopting Canadian rules . . . which don't allow tacklers to approach closer than five yards before the ball is fielded. . . .

Sugar Ray Robinson on the art of fighting: "I never really liked it. . . . I'm not a violent man." . . . The first thing he asks a questioner: "What do you think of the Far East (sic)?" . . . His Sugarship's perturbed because he'd planned "to go to Israel to do things for the poor people over there. Now they shafted me." . . . What about Fullmer? . . . "I never think of the other fellow. He's the one that's got to beat me." . . .

Tennessee titter: after five games the Vols were more worried about tailback Johnny Majors making his letter than being an All-America. . . . seems he only played a total of slightl ymore than 90 minutes. . . .

Army, which makes a fetish of little lifemeth, has a 235-pound sophomore tackle, Fred Wilmoth . . . who scaled 290 as a high school griddle . . . and trimmed down to 260 as a plebe. . . . Pete Dawkins, who was supposed to be the Kaydets' quarterback of the future, is a fixture at halfback and rated the potentially best running back on the squad, Kyasky notwithstanding. . . .

Between you'n me, the nation's rushing leader is Jim Crawford at undefeated Wyoming . . . but out in Cowpoke country they think more of his blocking and defensive play. . . .

Big Victory

New York—In Johnny Kucks' only World Series start he blanked the Dodgers, 9-0, winning the 1956 Series for the Yankees.

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

By WARREN PAGE
Shooting Editor

This is the time to start thinking about deer seasons in general, and bucks-only seasons in particular. The pros and cons of the buck law versus the any-deer legal pattern have been chewed over endlessly; the considerations of herd quality, herd growth, have time and again been set against fears of hunter mobs and mass slaughter.

To the thinking conservationist, there is probably little doubt that any-deer laws provide a healthier herd, better balanced in relation to the browse situation, generally a better quality of animal.

This sermon bears on the relationship of the bucks-only situation as compared to the any-deer setup, with regard to the general quality of the hunting itself. It is my personal contention that game laws which permit the taking by sportsmen of one deer (or more if the population demands a closer cropping of the herd), regardless of age or sex, produce a better hunt for everybody.

The Maine Solution

For example, the State of Maine, which is certainly as careful as any to see that its sporting visitors get a good break, has for many years permitted the killing of either bucks or does. They get a sizeable army of Nimrods up there during the deer season, but mighty few complaints about either too many hunters in any one woodlot, or too few deer taken to keep the herd healthy.

The meat hunters are in and out of the woods fast and don't much bother the trophy hunters. The latter are more serious about their sport, move back from the highways and are soaced with the fact that they see 20, 30, 40 does for every hat-rack.

Since the herds in many areas within these states are obviously unbalanced in relation to available feed, the game commissions annually proclaim any-deer or antlerless-deer open periods in certain counties. These produce a howl of anguish from the well-intentioned but misinformed who find a moral difference between taking a doe and taking a buck in the process of cutting a herd.

They also produce a mass migration into the woods which sours hunter-farmer relations and give no real personal satisfaction to "the meat-hunters" who, during these free two days, say, drop as many deer as the buck hunters drop in a couple of weeks. A poor quality of hunting any way you look at it.

Boardman Cops Ring Verdict

Philadelphia, Nov. 13 (AP)—Larry Boardman feels he could lick lightweight champion Joe Brown today but the sensational young fighter from Laroboro, Conn., says he isn't in any hurry for the title fight.

The 20-year-old Boardman, 140, says he wants to go on learning lessons like the one he picked up last night in defeating roughhouse Paddy DeMarco, 143. He met one of the toughest tests for a young fighter—how to combat a mauler, a guy who makes you look bad even when you win.

DeMarco, the former lightweight champion from Brooklyn, used every roughhouse trick in the book in an effort to panic the kid from the Nutmeg state. Referee Dave Beloff took the fourth round from Paddy for attempting to punch as Boardman fell forward from a push.

Boardman smashed DeMarco with rights and lefts from long range and refused to be goaded into fighting Paddy's style. In the fifth round, Boardman caught DeMarco on the chin, sending him to the canvas.

Boardman received the unanimous vote of the two judges and the referee. The point spreads announced were 48-39, 46-41 and 49-39, an easy though perhaps costly victory for the National Boxing Assn's top-ranked lightweight contender.

Boardman, 140, was cut above both eyes, suffered a cheek slash and badly battered the middle knuckle of his left hand. His handlers said he'll be sidelined about eight weeks, forcing cancellation of a date in Boston three weeks hence.

Dodgers Win As Tour Closes

Fukuoka, Japan, Nov. 13 (AP)—Hits by Jackie Robinson and Don Demeter produced two runs in the ninth inning today as the Brooklyn Dodgers rallied to wind up their 19-game tour of Japan with a 3-1 victory over Japan's Pacific League All-Stars. Robinson's hit scored Duke Snider and Jackie came around to score on Demeter's single after moving up on an infield out.

The victory gave the National League champs a record of 14 wins, 4 losses and a tie against the toughest competition Japan's improving baseballers ever have mustered against an American club.

The Dodgers return to Tokyo tonight and then fly to the States in two groups, one leaving Thursday, one Friday.

Freak Accident Halts Olympian

Melbourne, Nov. 13 (AP)—A weird accident may have cost the United States a gold medal in weightlifting at the Olympic games.

Pete George of Akron, Ohio, Olympic and world champion in the middleweight class, suffered a severe eye injury on the plane trip to Melbourne and his training has been interrupted.

Starting to put on his hat, George jabbed a seat card in his eye. The eye has been treated but doctors refused to let George train. He also is losing sleep because of pain.

"We counted on George as a certain gold medalist," said coach Bob Hoffman. "Now we can't be sure."

Station Risks Law Suit In Removing TV Tower

North Bergen, N. J., Nov. 13 (P)—Dismantling of the crumpled top of a giant television tower was to start today as a WOR-TV spokesman declared the station will "risk" a law suit if the army decides not to buy the structure.

Representatives of the township and WOR also meet today to discuss the future of the tower which was struck by a plane last Thursday. The two-engine Beechcraft then plunged into an apartment house, killing four persons and starting a fire.

The tower, originally 810 feet high including its antenna, has now been trimmed down to about 550 feet. Workers using cables and winches bent down the two topmost sections and lashed them to the lower part of the structure.

Station WOR, which leases the tower but has not used it since 1953, is negotiating the sale of the huge steel framework to the army.

Gas Tanks Explode

Kentucky Blaze Under Control

Maysville, Ky., Nov. 13 (P)—A spectacular fire, caused by the explosion of one of three 20,000 gallon gasoline tanks at a Texaco bulk plant here, raged out of control for several hours today, but was reported to be burning itself out.

Maysville police said at 6 a. m. that the fire, which started about 11 p. m., had been brought under control.

Apparently no one was injured in the blast which rocked this Ohio river city of about 10,000 population.

During the height of the fire, flames shot 200 feet into the air and for a time burning gasoline and oil threatened to flow into the Ohio river. Families in 12 nearby homes were evacuated. The unexplained explosion came as one of two double-trailer gasoline tankers with 16,500 gallon cargoes of gasoline was being pumped into the storage tank.

Would Bar Powell

Washington, Nov. 13 (P)—Rep. Wayne L. Hays (D-Ohio) said today he will ask a pre-session Democratic House caucus to bar Rep. Adam Clayton Powell (D-N.Y.) from committee assignments as a Democrat. Powell bolted the Stevenson-Kefauver presidential ticket and campaigned in behalf of President Eisenhower because, he said, he preferred Eisenhower's stand on racial integration. He said at the time he was still a Democrat. The caucus, expected to meet Jan. 2, has the final say on organizational matters among Democratic House members, including committee assignments. Such assignments normally are made on the basis of seniority.

Puts Teeth in UN

Olean, N. Y., Nov. 13 (P)—A former Labor party deputy prime minister of Great Britain says the formation of a United Nations force to police the Suez area has put teeth into the UN. In an address sponsored by the Olean Men's Club last night, Herbert Morrison called Egypt's seizure of the Suez Canal "an action in the nature of aggression." Unlike other members of his party, he voiced no criticism of Prime Minister's use of armed forces in the area. But he said he felt the West's program was not "quick enough or clear enough" and was losing the propaganda race to Russia.

Ouster Is Demanded

Berlin, Nov. 13 (P)—The Politburo of Poland's Communist party has demanded the ouster of Wiktor Klosiewicz, head of the Polish trade unions, from the party's central committee. The move was announced by the Polish Communist party newspaper Trybuna Ludu and the official East German News Service Adn. The Politburo charged Klosiewicz with having attempted to "stir up new unrest" through a provocative question brought up in parliament last Friday.

Discriminatory Cards Removed From Buses

New York, Nov. 13 (P)—Elimination of discriminatory advertising material from cards in buses operating in Syracuse has been announced by Charles Abrams, chairman of the state commission against discrimination.

Abrams said last night that bus advertisements for a Kansas City, Mo., airlines personnel training school contained questions concerning the color of applicants.

He said the advertising has been discontinued through the cooperation of the Syracuse Transit Co. and the advertising agency distributing the material, after a request by the commission.

Commissioner J. Edward Conway, who handled the case, said the advertising material had been authorized by Weaver Airline personnel training, and that the school was notified that such material constitutes a violation of New York state law.

Soviet Fleet, newspaper of the Russian navy, accused the United States of giving "unveiled encouragement to the aggressors in the craving to enslave the people of Egypt."

The newspaper declared the United States "is not adverse to taking advantage of the situation to further its own predatory aims of conquest and to fish in
